LOCAL OFFICES TO FILL.

Uniformity in All Districts for Election Officers, School Directors, Overseers and Constables.

There will be many local offices to fill at the November election. The candidates for these offices must be nominated at the primaries to be held Saturday, September 30th. There is uniformity in all districts—boroughs and townships alike—in the case of election officers, school directors and overseers, and all constables must be elected for a term of four years.

Five school directors will be elected. They can be selected from any precinct or ward in the township or borough. The boards reorganize in December, and at that time the terms of the present school directors expire, due to legislation, no matter for what length of term they were elected. The school directors are not salaried officers, therefore the legislature has power to legislate them out of office and did so. School directors will be elected in all boroughs and townships for the following lengths of terms: one for six years; two for four years, and two for two years.

The officers to be elected in Centre Hall borough, Potter, Harris and Gregg townships are as follows:

CENTRE HALL BOROUGH.

One Judge of Election, 2 years
Two Inspectors, 2 years
Five School Directors, 1 for 6 years; 2 for 4 years, and 2 for 2 years
Two Overseers of the Poor, 4 years each
Three Councilmen, 2 for 4 years, and 1 for 2 years
One Auditor for 4 years
One Constable for 4 years
One High Constable for 4 years
Two Justices of the Peace for 6 years

POTTER TOWNSHIP.

One Judge for each Precinct for 2 years
Two Inspectors for each Precinct for 2 years
One Registration Assessor for each Precinct for 2 years
Five School Directors, 1 for 6 years; 2 for 4 years, and 2 for 2 years
Two Overseers of the Poor, 4 years each
One Supervisor for 4 years
One Auditor for 4 years
One Constable for 4 years

HARRIS TOWNSHIP.

One Judge, two Inspectors and one Registration Assessor for each district; School Directors, Overseers and Constables, same as Potter Township
One Supervisor for 4 years
One Justice of the Peace for 6 years
Two Auditors, 1 for 4 years, and 1 for 2 years

GREGG TOWNSHIP.

One Judge, two Inspectors, and one Registration Assessor for each district; School Directors, Overseers and Constables, same as Potter Township
One Supervisor and one Auditor, each for 4 years

Capt. George P. Runkle Resigns.

Capt. George P. Runkle has resigned the command of the Pennsylvania Nautical Schoolship Adams. There have been rumors of trouble, and the sailing of the ship was delayed. Capt. Runkle, in his letter of resignation, puts the blame for all disturbances on Charles C. Platt, the excutive officer.

Richard B. Wiliams, president of the board of directors said: "We have been trying to let Captain Runkle down easily, and he should be careful how he talks. We have investigated his charges, and are satisfied with Captain Platt. I have known Captain Platt for years. He once commanded ships I was interested in. He has also commanded the yachts of several millionaires including one of the officers of the Pennsylv nia Railroad. We are anxious to get the schoolship away from Philadelphia.

After the vessel sails, we will be willing to give all the facts in relation to Captain Runkle's resignation."

The Adams is supported by the state of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia, each contributing $30,000. The boys are taught seamanship and so prepared that at the end of their terms they are competent to take responsible positions in the mercantile marine.

The Wild Carrot.

Wild carrot is a most noxious weed, and is giving farmers in this vicinity great concern. Fields that have not been given attention in the past are now totally covered with the weed, and how to eradicate them is a problem. The roadsides are also polluted with wild carrot, and will furnish seeds in abundance for the careful farmer who keeps his fields clean.

Every land owner should insist that the carrot be pulled, not cut. It is almost waste of time to cut them, for in less than a week, the white blossoms are again as numerous as ever, and will bear seed. The plant is a biennial, and lives but two years. The tiny little plants you see this year will next year grow waist-high and grow seed. Since the spreading of the plant is from the seed and not from the roots, it is very evident that if the plants are not permitted to seed they can be mastered.

Pull the carrots; and do it now.

The first bid asked for state road is for a stretch of ten miles, leading from Lewistown through the Narrows to Mifflintown. The bids are to be in by the 23rd.

THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER.

The Country Newspaper Should be Supported More Liberally Because of Its Value to the Community.

The country newspaper is deserving of the most liberal support. The great newspapers are impersonal, they deal with the world at large, although catering in a degree to the city in which they are published. They do not publish any extended news of the country districts, except there be something sensational in the news, and then they send their special correspondents who secure a few facts upon which they generally fabricate a story those who know the situation scarcely recognize. The metropolitan newspapers are not interested in the country or rural towns only so far as they produce some striking news story.

There is an intimate connection between the local newspaper and the people that is impossible with the metropolitan newspaper. The local newspaper has a field peculiarly its own, the life of its own community, important in itself, of value to the people, and one the metropolitan newspaper cannot adequately treat.

The country newspaper that endeavors to give the local news, to faithfully chronicle the doings of the people of the country, full, concisely and interestingly will not come into competition with the metropolitan newspapers and the latter cannot compete in local service with the country newspaper that is alive to its opportunities and endeavors to faithfully serve its readers.

The country newspaper holds a different position. The publishers are a part of the community which they serve. They are interested in everything that takes place in town or county. They are directly or indirectly interested in every resident of the community, most of whom are readers of their paper. They are financially interested in the doings of the town and county authorities and are deeply concerned in the development of the community. They are continually bringing to the front the advantages of the town for industrial and residential location; their praise is insistent in season and out of season, and their criticism is given in good faith for the good of the community, not knocking. Their every effort is to build up, not to destroy. Does the metropolitan newspaper do as much for the community?

Another Barn Burned.

During the heavy thunder storm Wednesday evening of last week, the large barn on the Col. W. Fred Reynolds farm, near Roopsburg, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed. All the stock with the exception of three calves and two pigs were saved, but all of this season's crops and grain left over from last year were also burned. The implements were stored in a shed a short distance from the barn and most of these were saved. The loss has not been estimated, but no doubt will run into thousands of dollars. Insurance was carried in the Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Company of which D. F. Luse is secretary.

The tenant, John H. Benner, who is a son-in-law of John H. Breon, formerly of near Centre Hall, had $600 insurance, and Mr. Reynolds, $1000 on the barn and $700 on his share of the crop.

Rain at Last.

After a long wait for a much needed rain heavy showers passed over the valley Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week, leaving an abundance of moisture at all points west of Spring Mills. East of that place the rain slackened, and at Millheim the fall was nearly sufficient to refresh the corn.

At Centre Hall the rain on Wednesday was one inch; Thursday, .68, and Friday, .90 of an inch, a total of 2 58 inches.

Corn, clover and grasses have been making wonderful strides toward maturity since the rain has come, and there is now almost assured a fair crop of corn and good pasture for a month or more.

STATE GRANGE NOT PARTIZAN.

Members Equally Divided Among Political Parties, Yet Loyal to Order.

The leading editorial in last week's issue of the Farmers Friend and Grange Trade Bulletin is here reprinted, because the Reporter believes the statements are correct:

Reports have been circulated by interested parties that the State Grange has been committed to the Keystone political party. Nothing could be more absurd, as the Grange cannot be committed to any partizan organization. A political party may and often does advocate measures urged by the Grange as an organization. This is but natural in the development of public opinions on economic questions. That such opinions should often harmonize with the action of various political parties is but a natural consequence; but that this harmony should commit the Grange to any political party is absured.

The membership of the Grange is about equally divided between the great political parties, but because of this division in party affiliations there is no division of loyalty to the Grange, our best and most faithful members are found in the party organizations of all political persuasions and yet are untiring in their labors and devotion to the Grange. The officers of the National and State Granges are about evenly divided between the political parties.

Eye Specialist in Centre Hall.

George F. Norton, O. D., of New York City, will be in Centre Hall until the 15th inst.

The ability of Dr. Norton in correcting defective sight is well known to many in and around Centre Hall.

Any who may be in need of his skillful service would do well to have his attention at once so that everything may be satisfactory before he leaves.

Meeting of County Grange.

The Centre County Pomona Grange will meet in the hall of Bald Eagle Grange, Milesburg, Thursday, August 17, at 10. a. m.

Aaronsburg.

Mrs. Huston, of Clearfield, is visiting Mrs. Coburn at this place.

Mrs. Henry Mowery spent a few days with friends at Madisonburg.

Dr. J. D. Bowersox has a hen that layed an egg weighing six ounces.

Mrs. Charles Orwig, of Hartleton, is visiting her son Walter and family, of this place.

Mrs. J. C. Meyer, of Bellefonte, spent a few days at the home of Luther E. Stover.

Mrs. Ruth Keller and children, of Pleasant Gap, visited at the home of her uncle, John Haines.

Mrs. (Rev.) Shoemaker, of Lock Haven, is the welcome guest of her sister, Mrs. M. J. Deshler.

Misses Mabelle and Ethel Traxell, of Winfield, are visitiug at the home of their uncle Harvey Crouse.

Mrs. H. C. Yurdy and daughter, of Shamokin, are visiting the former's aged mother, Mrs. Summers.

Rev. Barber, a Presbyterian minister, of Curwensville, was a guest at the Foster residence over Sunday.

Wilmer Stover had a young English Beegal hound sent to him by Newton Hamlin. He is very much pleased with it.

Mr. and Mrs. James Breon, of Pence, Indiana, after an absence of two years are visiting in this place. Mrs. Breon, better known as Kathryn Frank, says she is well satisfied with the state of Indiana.

Colyer.

Mrs. Musser, of Bellefonte, is visiting her sister Mrs. John Slack.

Miss Ruth Bower spent Sunday with her friend Blanche Moyer.

Miss Blanche Reiber spent Sunday with Mrs. Mary Cooney, of Centre Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller and son Kryder spent Sunday visiting friends beyond Bellefonte.

TRIMMING SHADE TREES.

Dr. Schuyler Tells of the Beautiful Shade Trees in New York Villages.

This summer, as last, I am spending some time in the villages and cities of central New York, noted for their beauty. It seems to me that in one particular at least they decidedly surpass central Pennsylvanians, and that is in the way they manage their shade trees. They have more elms than we, but everywhere are seen the same maples so familiar to our sight, especially the sugar maple; great, tall, graceful trees, with high spreading branches. The people here do not cut them back, as is often done in Pennsylvania. I cannot recall that in all these places I have seen one docked or dehorned tree. The mulley trees of Centre county seem to be utterly unknown here. Instead, the under branches are cut off, and trunks with no limbs for twenty, thirty, forty feet, or even more, crowned with a beautiful, spreading, open top, yet sufficient for grateful shade, are common.

The advantages of this mode of trimming seem to me many. The healthful air and light are only slightly restrained. The street surface does not long remain damp and muddy after a rain. Telephone and other wires can be strung under the high branches with practically no interference, one with the other. Nor is there much interference with the rays of light from the street lamps; and umbrellas are not torn or knocked out of the hands of pedestrians by protruding limbs. I believe also that such trees are less likely to be injured by storms, since the tops are not so dense as to catch the full force of the wind; neither are the branches weakened, nor the tops disfigured by decaying limbs as when when the ends of the latter are cut off.

Fortunately some of the trees in Centre Hall have never been docked. If their owners would remove more of the under branches, in proportion to the height of the tree, giving the top a chance to spread out, in a few years it would be found that the beauty and usefulness of the trees had been greatly enhanced. If the tree has been allowed to grow many years without this under trimming, the first effect may not be favorable; but, as the top expands, the branches hang down, and the bark grows over the stumps of the removed branches, the pleasing effect will appear.

No Abatement on School Taxes.

Under a provision of the recently enacted school code the taxpayers will not be allowed any abatement on their school taxes if paid within the first ninety days, as is the case with other taxes. After the first ninety days, however, five per cent. will be added to unpaid taxes as provided by the old law.

The new code law also requires the tax collector to send a notice to every taxpayer of the district, stating the valuation of his occupation, the value of his property, the assessed millage and amount of each tax he is to pay for school purposes. This is done at the expense of the school district.

May Call Rev. Wolf.

The appointments on the Centre Hall Reformed charge were filled last Sunday by Rev. David J. Wolf, now pastor at Tanneytown, Maryland.

After the services at each of the four points, congregational meetings were held, and yesterday (Wednesday) evening the consistory met in Centre Hall to consider the matter of extending a call. The result of the conference of the church officers the Reporter is not able to give the public in this issue, but it is thought a call will be extended.

Penn Township Teachers.

At a meeting of the Penn township board the date for the opening of the schools in that township was set for Monday, September 4th. The following teachers were elected: Coburn grammar, Prof. R. U. Wasson; Coburn primary, Lodie Rishel; Elk Creek, Kathryn Stover; Pike, C. E. Kreamer; Gentzel, W. E. Braucht; Liberty, T. A. Hosterman; Mountain, Miles Breon.

Anti-Saloon League Services.

Prof. F. F. Holsopple, of the Juniata College, Huntingdon, one of the best speakers of the Anti-Saloon League of Pennsylvania, will speak in the Presbyterian church, at Spring Mills, Sunday morning, at 10.30 o'clock. In the evening of the same day he will preach in the Presbyterian church at Centre Hall. Everybody is cordially invited to attend these services.

Services in Moyer's Grove.

Miss Minnie Kline will hold services in Moyer's grove, near Colyer, as follows: Saturday evening, Sunday morning, and Sunday evening. Please note that there will be no services Sunday afternoon. All are invited.

DEATHS.

One of Bellefonte's highly esteemed and well known residents—Henry Y. Stitzer—died at his home at that place on the afternoon of the last Sunday in July. Although he had been in ill health for a number of years, the direct cause of his death was due to a paralytic stroke received the previous Wednesday.

Deceased was a son of William and Judith Stitzer, and was born in the vicinity of Millheim, February 25, 1837, making his age seventy-four years, five months and five days. While still a boy he was apprenticed to a merchant tailor at Mifflinburg. Later he attended the Mifflinburg Academy. At the age of twenty-one he took up the profession of teaching in Snyder county, and three years later, 1861, became principal of the Bellefonte High School. After holding this position for a short time he was admitted to the bar of Centre county. From 1863 to 1866 he was deputy sheriff under sheriff Richard Conley. In 1866 he became district attorney of this county and held that office until 1872. Upon retiring from this office he purchased the Livingston, or what is now the Index book store, conducting this place of business until 1895. That year he again resumed the practice of law, becoming senior member of the law firm Stitzer & Magee.

In 1867 Mr. Stitzer married Miss Hannah M. Hess, of Boalsburg. No children were born to this union, but a boy and a girl were adopted by them and reared and educated. The boy died at the age of about twenty years, while the girl is now the wife of H. A. McKee, of Wilkensburg. His wife and one sister, Mrs Amelia Murray, of Bellefonte, survive. The funeral was held last Wednesday and interment was made in Union cemetery, Rev. F. W. Barry, pastor of the Lutheran church, at Bellefonte, of which the deceased was a faithful member, officiating.

Mrs. Ida Verdelia Klepper, beloved wife of Sheriff W. H. Klepper, of Lock Haven, died Wednesday evening of last week of cancer, from which she was a patient sufferer for the past eight years. All that medical and surgical science could do to stay the progress of the disease was resorted to, and the ministration and gentle care of those near and dear to her were continued unceasingly during her long illness, all to no avail.

Deceased was born September 18, 1863, at Rebersburg, where she grew to womanhood. She was a life-long member of the Lutheran church, and a consistent christian, who delighted in doing good. At the time of her death she was a member of St. John's English Lutheran church, Lock Haven.

Deceased is survived by her husband, two sons, Leon and Paul, two daughters, Anna and Dorothy, and her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Kreamer, of Millheim.

Funeral services were conducted at the house Friday evening by Rev. Jacob Diehl, after which the remains were taken to Millheim, where the concluding services were conducted in the Lutheran church Saturday forenoon and burial in Highland cemetery at Millheim.

Friday morning, 28th of last month, Henry Calvin Kline, aged twenty-one years, seven months and twenty days, died in the Bellefonte hospital. Owing to a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism Mr. Kline was obliged to quit work about twelve weeks ago. Until this time he had been in the employ of the Bellefonte Central Railroad. After entering the hospital three weeks ago other complications set in which brought about his death. His wife, nee Lillian Brown; one sister, Mrs. Harvey Fetzer, of Wallacetown; one brother, Albert F., at home, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Kline, of Bellefonte, survive.

Interment was made two days after his death in the Myers cemetery, at Buffalo Run, Rev. Winey and Rev. Shuey conducting the services.

After an illness of several years of tuberculosis Miss Anna E. Garland died Sunday, 30th ult., at her home at Bald Eagle. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Garland, both deceased. Interment was made in the Bald Eagle cemetery the following Wednesday, service being conducted by Rev. Gilbert, of Port Matilda, assisted by Rev. Woomer.

Mrs. George Emerick, born at Hublersburg in 1839, died in Stephenson county, Illinois. Her maiden name was Lydia Daughenbaugh, a daughter of C. Daughenbaugh, and she was but three years old when she accompanied her parents to Illinois.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS.

T. F. Farner, of Philadelphia, is spending a week at his old home in Potter township.

Mrs. Charles Ripka, of near Colyer, who gave birth to a child about six weeks ago, is quite ill.

The citizens of Millheim will hold a union picnic in Dr. G. S. Frank's woods, west of that borough, today (Thursday).

Mrs. Blanche Neese publishes letters of administration on the estate of her mother, Mrs. Amelia Korman, of Gregg township, deceased.

Mrs. Ellen Frazier and daughter Cora just returned from a six weeks' visit to Reading, the home of the former's brother, Oliver Kline.

The Linden Hall Mission Band will hold a festival on the lawn in front of the residence of Robert McClellan, at Linden Hall, Saturday evening, August 12th.

The Philipsburg Daily Journal pays a high tribute to J. Frank Smith, candidate for register. The compliment, however, is not undeserving. Smith is all right.

While at work in his saw mill north of Madisonburg last week, Clark Stover had the thumb of his right hand badly lacerated when it came in contact with a saw.

Postmaster General Hitchcock is advocating doubling the postage rate on newspapers. That is what he calls economy in the postal service. Others call it by another name.

D. W. Bradford has been appointed Democratic chairman in Centre Hall borough, succeeding J. Frank Smith, who is now a candidate for the office of register. The selection is a good one.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cann and three children, of Altoona, are at the home of Mrs. Cann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kline, at Center Mills. Mr. Cann is a clerk in one of the many railroad offices in Altoona.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kreamer, of Harrisburg, formerly of Millheim, and Mr. and Mrs. William W. Harpster, of Freeport, Illinois, who for several months have been at the Centre Hall hotel, were entertained by Mrs. Mary Shoop, the beginning of last week.

Rev. G. W. McIlnay, of Dudly, came to Centre Hall on Friday from Altoona where he attended the Methodist gathering. He visited James B. Strohm and others, and Saturday attended the picnic held by the Methodist Sunday-school on Grange Park.

Thursday evening the members of the class taught by D. F. Luse in the Lutheran Sunday-school gathered at his home, the occasion being the seventy-fourth birthday of the teacher. He was presented with a handsome rocker as a token of their loyalty.

R. D. Killian, formerly of Centre Hall, but now a resident of Lewisburg, returned home last week from a trip of nearly two months in Perry and Juniata counties buying up walnut logs. He has been engaged in that capacity for the past ten years or more and has made some very large shipments of this timber which is gradually growing scarcer.

Norman A. Duck, of near Millheim, who is farming quite a large farm there, recently made a trip to Union county and leased a 180-acre farm south of Mifflinburg. It appears a number of Miles township farmers intend becoming Union county tenants in the spring. Speaking of the crops in that county, Mr. Duck says wheat, oats and potatoes are a failure; corn will be a fair crop.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Vernon Godshall have returned from their honeymoon trip to Chicago and other points, and since Saturday have been at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kline, at Center Mills. Mrs. Godshall will be better known as Mrs. Margaret Bailey, of Centre Hall. Their future course is not yet decided, but it is altogether probable that they will make Porto Rico their home, Prof. Godshall having been offered a professorship in a University on the island.

Rev. B. F. Bieber closed his pastorate on the Centre Hall charge last Sunday, having served the charge a little over four years. He began his ministry on this charge, and during his stay here won the the friendship and admiration of many of his church people. He left the finances on the charge in good condition. This is especially true of the Centre Hall congregation, where all current bills were met monthly during the whole of the past year, a condition that did not prevail in the past decade. The family left Centre Hall on Tuesday for their new home in West Milton, where Rev. Bieber will at once begin active work on the Buffalo Valley charge.

CENTRE HALL, PA.

GROWTH OF COMMERCE.

The great manufacturing nations, the great producing nations, such as Great Britain, Germany, France and the United States combined, have not more than one-sixth the population of the globe, and it can be said with approximate accuracy that the other five-sixths are to a very great degree their customers, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Fully one-half of the world's population are as yet only fractionally supplied with articles necessary for civilized existence. The 70,000,000 of people to the south of us on the American continent when fully employed, as some day they will be, in producing from their lands, their forests and their mines, will make our manufacturers wealthy through their demands for what our own industrial districts can output. Commerce is pushing its way up every great and small river of South America, it is crossing the Andes over a thousand trails, and where but one railway across South America from ocean to ocean now runs, within a score of years there will be several other lines from the Pacific to the navigable waters of the great rivers of the north and the center. The world's commerce of today, huge as it seems, is small compared with that of the future either in tonnage or in value.

Discussion of women's manners in public will not down. Sometimes it is women who complain of being jolted in crowds or of being compelled to stand in street cars while men occupy the seats, says the Boston Globe. Sometimes it is men who murmur because some women in public often seen to ignore the fundamental rules of good breeding. It is noticeable that most of the criticisms of women's public manners are evoked by the conduct a well-dressed or stylish and apparently well-to-do woman, seldom by the bearing of working women or girls. The woman who puts down a $20 or a $10 bill at the ticket office window, holds up a lengthening line while she counts her change and glares furiously if a man puts down his nickel before she has picked up the last bit of change; the woman who never moves along in a car to make room for another woman; the woman who deliberately takes up as much time as possible at the store counter while other customers are waiting—these women commonly look like persons of refinement. No doubt they are kind-hearted and gentle-mannered in their own homes and in their own circles.

One of our clergymen proposes to abolish the old method of dancing. He wants girls to dance with girls, and boys to dance with boys. Piffle, as Aristotle once said.

A Philadelphia woman wants a divorce because her husband threw a clock at her. Gallant men everywhere will agree that that is no way to bring a lady to time.

A New York mother failed to recognize her boy with a clean face. With all due allowance for the water famine in the metropolis we had hardly thought it was as scarce as that.

TRADE RESTRAINT IN BIG COAL SUIT

Government Charges It Has Hurt Competition.

SUIT AGAINST SIX RAILROADS

Pittsburg, West Virginia, Kanawha Valley and Hocking Valley--Government Asks That Combination Be Enjoined.

Columbus, O.—Suit was filed by the United States government in the Federal Circuit Court here against six railroad companies and three coal mining concerns, charging a combination in restraint of trade and asking that the combination be enjoined from continuing business.

The government charges that the Hocking Valley Railroad Amalgamation's ownership of the capital stock of the Toledo and Central Ohio, the Kanawha and Michigan and the Zanesville and Western roads, and its connection with the mining concerns named, has crushed competition.

The defendant companies are:

Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad.
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.
Hocking Valley Railroad.
Toledo and Ohio Central Railroad.
Kanawha and Michigan Railroad.
Zanesville and Western Railroad.
Sunday Creek Coal Company.
Continental Coal Company.
Kanawha and Hocking Coal and Coke Company.

The government's petition alleges that the combination thus formed affects four of the great coal mining fields, namely, the Pittsburg, the West Virginia, the Kanawha Valley and the Hocking Valley.

It is alleged that the six railroads are affiliated and that the three coal companies are also, not only among themselves, but with the railroad companies.

The Hocking Valley, the Toledo and Ohio Central, the Kanawha and Michigan and the Zanesville and Western were until recently under control of the "Trunk Line Syndicate." The Sunday Creek Coal Company is a holding company, controling the Continental Coal Company and other companies owning properties in Virginia, West Virginia and Ohio.

The government's purpose is to prevent the change of ownership agreed on last year when the trunk line syndicate turned over the four railroads and their affiliated coal companies to the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern and the Chesapeake and Ohio, the latter taking charge of the Hocking Valley, which is the principal one of the four roads.

The suit seeks further to break up entirely the alleged combination between the four roads and the Sunday Creek Company and its subsidiary coal companies, which had been complained of by Ohio coal operators for two or three years, and which has been the basis for innumerable suits brought in county and United States courts in Ohio.

TO DEFEND UNIFORM.

Skating Rink to be Prosecuted For Discrimination.

Washington. — Attorney General Wickersham instructed the United States district attorney for Arizona to begin proceedings against the proprietors of the skating rink at Prescott, Ariz., for refusing to admit two officers and a non-commissioned officer of the Army to the rink, because they were in uniform.

This is the first case of the kind on record, and shows that the War Department has taken up in earnest the question of discrimination against United States uniforms.

WOMAN SLAYER FREE.

Young Woman Killed Husband Who Abused Her.

San Francisco.—Acclaimed as a heroine and condoled with by men and women of all classes, Anna Langley, 19 years old, who shot her husband, James W. Langley, Wednesday, left the jail Friday a free woman.

Moved by her story of neglect, abuse and villification the jury freed her, later going to the jail in a body to tell her.

ENDS ACEVEDO REVOLT.

General Brought to Havana for Civil Courts.

Havana.—The flash-in-the-pan revolution of General Acevedo came to an ignominious end Friday when Acevedo was brought to the capital in irons. U. S., ENGLAND AND FRANCE

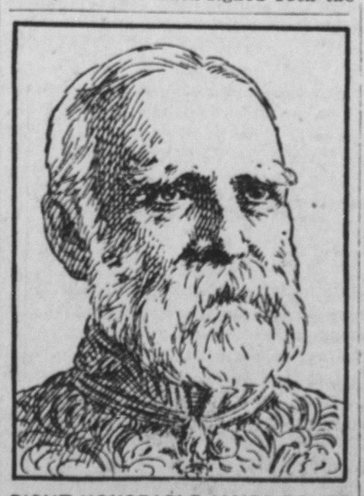
Jusserand Affixes Signature in Paris --Knox and Bryce Approve Pact in Washington, With Taft as Witness.

Washington.—Three of the world's greatest nations, with the United States as the central figure and moving spirit, joined hands Thursday in opening the way to the coveted goal of statesmen of modern times—Universal Peace.

America and Great Britain and America and France have signed general arbitration treaties for the peaceful settlement of all disputes that may be locked in the mystery of the future, even though they concern the national honor or vital interests of the signatories, subjects invariably excepted in existing arbitration treaties.

PHILANDER CHASE KNOX
Secretary of State.

Jean Jules Jusserand, French Ambassador to the United States, now in Paris, the first diplomat to accept President Taft's suggestion that all quarrels between nations could be arbitrated, signed the convention in that city, at the White House, Secretary of State Knox signed both the British and French treaties and James Bryce, British Ambassador, signed the agreement with Great Britain. President Taft signed the signing ceremonies here.



RIGHT HONORABLE JAMES BRYCE
Ambassador From Great Britain.

The general features of the new treatise are:

All differences internationally justiciable shall be submitted to The Hague, unless by special agreement some other tribunal is created or selected.

J. J. JUSSERAND
Ambassador From France.

Differences that either country thinks are not justiciable shall be referred to a commission of inqury composed of nationals of the two governments, empowered to make recommendations for their settlement. Should the commission decide that the dispute should be arbitrated, such decision will be binding.

Before arbitration is resorted to, even in cases where both countries agree that the difference is susceptible of arbitration, the commission of inquiry shall investigate the dispute with a view of recommending a settlement without arbitration.

The commission, at request of either Government, will delay its findings one year to give an opportunity for diplomatic settlement.

The Senate will ratify the terms of submission of each dispute to arbitration.

VARDAMAN WINS

New Legislature Will be Dominated by His Supporters.

Jackson, Miss.—Returns from the Democratic primary election in Mississippi show that a political revolution has occurred in the State.

James K. Vardaman was nominated for United States Senator over both of his opponents, Senator Leroy Percy and C. H. Alexander.

The new Legislature will be dominated by a large majority of Vardaman supporters and it is reported in political circles that one of the first acts of that body will be to order a sweeping investigation of the election of United States Senator Percy by the previous Legislature in 1910.

The campaign was fought on the record of the Legislature in electing Percy. After Percy was elected it was charged that he was elected by corrupt methods. State Senator Theodore G. Bilbo charged that he had been paid a bribe of $645 to vote for Percy. Bilbo claimed that he accepted the bribe for the purpose of trapping L. C. Dulaney, one of Percy's campaign managers, who, Bilbo charged, paid him the bribe. Bilbo ran for Lieutenant-Governor in the primary and the returns show that he was nominated over both of his opponents.

It is also reported in political circles that a strong effort will be made when the new Legislature convenes to impeach Governor E. F. Noel. Governor Noel fought Vardaman bitterly and the supporters of Vardaman charged that the Governor violated the law and committed offenses that will justify his impeachment. Noel's term will expire within a month after the new Legislature convenes in January.

Woman Runs the Mint.

Washington.—A woman is now in actual charge of the mints of the United States. Miss Margaret Kelly, long connected with the Mint Bureau, was appointed examiner, in which position she will be next in authority to George E. Roberts, the director, and much of the administration of the coinage of money for the government will devolve upon her. Mr. Roberts at present is out of town and will not be back for several weeks. Miss Kelly's salary will be $3,000 a year.

5,000,000 PERSONS IN N. Y.

New Mark Set by the Health Department.

New York.—New York city passed the 5,000,000 mark in population Thursday. The Health Department is authority for this statement. The population by boroughs is distributed as follows: Manhattan, 2,393,636; Bronx, 487,437; Brooklyn, 1,716,852; Queens, 312,630; Richmond, 89,852.

HOUSE TO HAVE 433 MEMBERS

Senate Passes the Reapportionment Bill.

SOME AMENDMENTS ADDED.

One of those Adopted Being Intended to Prevent Gerrymandering--New York Gets Six More Members.

Washington.—The amended House Congressional reapportionment bill, providing that after March 3, 1913, the House of Representatives shall consist of 433 members, exclusive of Arizona and New Mexico, an increase of 42 over the present membership, was passed by the Senate Thursday without roll call.

The bill now goes to conference between the two houses for agreement as to the Senate amendments before going to the President for his approval.

It is so drawn that no State will lose in representation, but in some cases there will be a decided increase.

New York heads the list with an increase of six members; Pennsylvania, four; California and Oklahoma, three each; Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Texas and Washington, two each, and Alabama, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah and West Virginia, one each.

The passage of the bill has been vigorously fought ever since the figures of the last census became available.

An amendment by Senator Burton, of Ohio, to prevent gerrymandering in the redistricting of Congressional territory was agreed to, 39 to 28.

PRESIDENT SIMON AN EXILE

His Departure Marked by Sensational Tragedy--The Revolution Triumphs.

Port au Prince, Haiti.—The revolution in Haiti has triumphed. President Antoine Simon fled the capital and took refuge on board the Haitian cruiser 17 Decembre, formerly the yacht American. With him are his wife and children and a number of his followers.

On all sides the capital is invested by followers of General Firmin, one of the revolutionary leaders.

The city itself is in the hands of a committee of safety, and there is no general disorder.

The departure of the aged President was not without disorder, however, for, as he was embarking at the wharf, there was a riotous demonstration in which the ex-President's chamberlain, Deputy Prin, of Peremie, and five other persons were killed, and Clementina Simon, his daughter, and six other persons were wounded. The injuries of Miss Simon are slight.

President Simon left the palace at 4 o'clock, after he had been informed that one wing of the revolutionary army, commanded by General Peralte, had denied his request for three days in which to secure the safety of the city.

The General informed the French and British Ministers, that owing to recent summary executions by Simon's order the President must leave the capital immediately or otherwise he would attack the city without delay.

The German and Cuban Ministers, who went to Croix des Bouquets on a similar errand, found the rebel commander there, General Ducaste, disposed to grant the truce, provided a committee of safety was appointed.

In view of the attitude of General Peralte, however, it was deemed best that Simon immediately lay down the reins of government and leave the city.

Named Reciprocity.

Washington.—President Taft got a new riding horse from West Virginia the other day. The horse came just after the Canadian reciprocity fight had ended and the President took one look at him and called him Reciprocity. The new presidential steed is 16 hands high, dappled iron gray in color and able to carry a man of the President's weight.

Bryan Goes to Japan.

Washington.—It was learned that Charles Page Bryan, of Chicago, United States minister to Belgium, will succeed Thomas J. O'Brien as United States ambassador to Japan. Mr. O'Brien will be shifted to Rome to take the place left vacant by the transfer of Mr. Leishman to Berlin as Dr. David J. Hill's successor.

Embalming Fluid in Milk.

York, Pa.—Charged with using an embalming fluid as a milk preservative E. W. Stump, a dairyman of this city, was arrested at the instance of the State Dairy and Food Department. Stump paid the fine of $50 and costs. Seven other samples of milk taken from seven different dairymen were found to be adulterated and additional prosecutions will be brought.

FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

Information and Gossip at Harrisburg.

Danger in "Collar Riot."

Dr. H. A. Surface, the State's authority on insects that eat and otherwise destroy fruits, says that Pennsylvania is threatened with something infinitely worse than the woolly aphis, the tunnel or railroad maggot and various other pests because of the appearance of the disease known as the "collar rot." From reports which he has received this disease has been reported from northern and eastern counties where it has attacked apple trees and bids fair to spread. "The 'collar rot' is an insidious menace to the fruit trees, especially to the apple trees as is the 'blight' to the chestnut groves," remarked Dr. Surface today in speaking of the reports about the pest. Continuing, he said: "It starts from bacteria, which are borne about by bees and other insects, but spreads rapidly and literally ruins trees. Its special prey appears to be the apple and pear trees and if it gets a hold it will cause a heavy loss, especially as commercial orchard work is coming into so much favor about the state and large sums of money are being invested in it. The 'collar rot' gets its name because it appears just where the limbs branch off and if not checked in a short time spoils the tree. The best thing to do for it is to cut out the infected part and treat it with some antiseptic."

New Law Covers All.

Daniel S. Seitz, City Solicitor of Harrisburg, and one of the committee of solicitors of third class cities which drew the Fox bill amending the third class city act so that all mayors and other city officers shall be elected this fall, does not agree with the position taken by Edward B. Vaill, as assistant county solicitor of Allegeny county, who has advised the commissioners of that county that the McKeesport mayor, controller and treasurer need not be elected this fall. When the facts relating to Mr. Vaill's opinion were mentioned to Mr. Seitz he said: "The law to my mind is very plain and there is no doubt but that the law affects all cities of the third class. If the opinion in the McKeesport case could be followed out we would have any city which did not care to accept the provisions of the law setting itself up as outside of the class. The object of the law was to obtain uniformity and I think it meets all requirements. Certainly there is no way by which McKeesport can be under one law and other cities of the same class under another." In Harrisburg and most of the third class cities the officials affected by the act are preparing for elections without any question in the matter.

Many Complaints Entered.

McIlvain Brothers, drug importers, of Philadelphia, complained to the State Railroad Commission that the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad had refused to provide sufficient cars for their business, while providing ample facilities for the Baldwin Locomotive Works, which is on the same spur of the railroad. The complaint alleges discrimination.

Howard R. Moyer, of Quakertown, claims the United States Express Company charges as much for shipping goods from South Bethlehem to Quakertown, sixteen and one-half miles, as from Philadelphia, which is forty-one miles distant.

L. L. Detweiler, of Three Springs, accuses the East Broad Top Railroad of charging two rates on goods from Huntingdon.

H. S. McKinley, solicitor of Thornburg borough, complains that the terminal of the Crafton and Thornburg branch of the Pittsburg Railways Company is unsafe.

Few Accept Hospital Law.

The hospitals of the state receiving state aid are inclined to be slow about accepting the terms of the act of 1911 making appropriations for permanent improvement liens on the properties. The blanks for the acceptance, which must be filed before any state appropriations are paid out, were issued some time ago, but although considerably over one hundred were issued less than a score have responded.

Guard Gets $162,997.02.

The work of computing the pay of the members of the National Guard of Pennsylvania for service during the recent brigade camps was completed at the office of Adjutant General Stewart Thursday and it shows that the officers and men received a total of $162,997.02.

Chief James Sweeney, of the new division of Standards in the Internal Affairs Department, has received notice that the tests of the proposed Pennsylvania State standards of weights and measures will soon be completed at Washington. The division will then be ready to supply correct standards to all counties that take advantage of the new law authorizing county commissioners to appoint inspectors of weights and measures. A number of counties have informed Chief Sweeney of their intention to appoint such inspectors.

SYNOPSIS.

Count di Rosini, the Italian ambassador, is at dinner with diplomats when a messenger summons him to the embassy, where a beautiful young woman asks for a ticket to the embassy ball. The ticket is made out in the name of Miss Isabel Thorne. Chief Campbell of the secret service, and Mr. Grimm, his head detective, are warned that a plot is brewing in Washington, and Grimm goes to the state ball for information. His attention is called to Miss Isabel Thorne, who with her companion, disappears. A shot is heard and Senor Alvarez of the Mexican legation, is found wounded. Grimm is assured Miss Thorne did it; he visits her, demanding knowledge of the affair, and arrests Pietro Petrozinni. Miss Thorne visits an old bomb-maker and they discuss a wonderful experiment. Fifty thousand dollars is stolen from the office of Senor Rodriguez, the minister from Venezuela, and while detectives are investigating the robbery Miss Thorne appears as a guest of the legation. Grimm accuses her of the theft; the money is restored, but a new mystery occurs in the disappearance of Monsieur Boissegur the French ambassador.

CHAPTER XII.—(Continued.)

"Monsieur," he went on, and there was a tense note in his voice, "the ambassador of France had disappeared, gone, vanished! We searched the house from the cellar to the servants' quarters, even the roof, but there was no trace of him. The hat he usually wore was in the hall, and all his other hats were accounted for. You may remember, Monsieur, that Tuesday was cold, but all his top-coats were found in their proper places. So it seems, Monsieur," and repression ended in a burst of excitement, "if he left the embassy he did not go out by either door, and he went without hat or coat!"

He stopped helplessly and his gaze alternated inquiringly between the benevolent face of the chief and the expressionless countenance of Mr. Grimm.

"If he left the embassy?" Mr. Grimm repeated. "If your search of the house proved conclusively that he wasn't there, he did leave it, didn't he?"

Monsieur Rigolot stared at him blankly for a moment, then nodded.

"And there are windows, you know," Mr. Grimm went on, then: "As I understand it, Monsieur, no one except you and the stenographer saw the ambassador after ten o'clock in the morning?"

"Oui, Monsier, C'est—" Monsieur Rigolot began excitedly. "I beg pardon. I believe that is correct."

"You saw him about ten, you say; therefore no one except the stenographer saw him after ten o'clock?"

"That is also true, as far as I know."

"Any callers? Letters? Telegrams? Telephone messages?"

"I made inquiries in that direction, Monsieur," was the reply. "I have the words of the servants at the door and of the stenographer that there were no callers, and the statement of the stenographer that there were no telephone calls or telegrams. There were only four letters for him personally. He left them all on his desk—here they are."

Mr. Grimm looked them over leisurely. They were commonplace enough, containing nothing that might be construed into a reason for the disappearance.

"The letters Monsieur Boissegur had dictated were laid on his desk by the stenographer," Monsieur Rigolot rushed on volubly, excitedly. "In the anxiety and uneasiness following the disappearance they were allowed to remain there overnight. On Wednesday morning, Monsieur"—and he hesitated impressively—"those letters bore his signature in his own handwriting!"

Mr. Grimm turned his listless eyes full upon Monsieur Rigolot's perturbed face for one scant instant.

"No doubt of it being his signature?" he queried.

"Non, Monsieur, non!" the secretary exclaimed emphatically. "Vous avez—that is, I have known his signature for years. There is no doubt. The letters were not of a private nature. If you would care to look at the copies of them?"

He offered the duplicates tentatively. Mr. Grimm read them over slowly, the while Monsieur Rigolot sat nervously staring at him. They, too, seemed meaningless as bearing on the matter in hand. Finally, Mr. Grimm nodded and Monsieur Rigolot resumed:

"And Wednesday night, Monsieur, another strange thing happened. Monsier Boissegur smokes many cigarettes, of a kind made especially for him in France, and shipped to him here. He keeps them in a case on his dressing-table. On Thursday morning his valet reported to me that this case of cigarettes had disappeared!"

"Of course," observed Mr. Grimm, "Monsieur Boissegur has a latch-key to the embassy?"

"Of course."

"Anything unusual happen last night—that is, Thursday night?"

"Nothing, Monsieur—that is, nothing we can find."

Mr. Grimm sat silent for a time and fell to twisting the seal ring on his finger. Mr. Campbell turned around and moved a paper weight one inch to the left, where it belonged, while Monsieur Rigolot, disappointed at their amazing apathy, squirmed uneasily in his chair.

"It would appear, then," Mr. Grimm remarked, musingly, "that after his mysterious disappearance the ambassador has either twice returned to his house at night, or else sent some one there, first to bring the letters to him for signature, and later to get his cigarettes?"

"Certainement, Monsieur—I mean, that seems to be true. But where is he? Why should he not come back? What does it mean? Madame Boissegur is frantic, prostrated! She wanted me to go to the police, but I did not think it wise that it should become public, so I came here."

"Very well," commented Mr. Grimm. "Let it rest as it is. Meanwhile you may reassure madame. Point out to her that if Monsieur Boissegur signed the letters Tuesday night he was, at least, alive; and if he came or sent for the cigarettes Wednesday night, he was still alive. I shall call at the embassy this afternoon. No, it isn't advisable to go with you now. Give me your latch-key, please."

Monsieur Rigolot produced the key and passed it over without a word.

"And one other thing," Mr. Grimm continued, "please collect all the revolvers that may be in the house and take charge of them yourself. If any one, by chance, heard a burglar prowling around there tonight he might shoot, and in that event either kill Monsieur Boissegur or—or me!"

When the secretary had gone Mr. Campbell idly drummed on his desk as he studied the face of his subordinate.

"So much!" he commented finally.

"It's Miss Thorne again," said the young man as if answering a question.

"Perhaps these reports I have received today from the Latin capitals may aid you in dispelling that mystery," Campbell suggested, and Mr. Grimm turned them over eagerly. "Meanwhile our royal visitor, Prince Benedetto d'Abruzzi, remains unknown?"

The young man's teeth closed with a snap.

"It's only a question of time, Chief," he said abruptly. "I'l find him—I'll find him!"

And he sat down to read the reports.

CHAPTER XIII.

A Conference in the Dark.

The white rays of the distant arc light filtered through the half-drawn velvet hangings and laid a faintly illumined path across the ambassador's desk; the heavy leather chairs were mere impalpable splotches in the shadows; the cut-glass knobs of a mahogany cabinet caught the glint of light and reflected it dimly. Outside was the vague, indefinable night drone of a city asleep, unbroken by any sound that was distinguishable, until finally there came the distant boom of a clock. It struck twice.

Seated on a couch in one corner of the ambassador's office was Mr. Grimm. He was leaning against the high arm of leather, with his feet on the seat, thoughtfully nursing his knees. If his attitude indicated anything except sheer comfort, it was that he was listening. He had been there for two hours, wide-awake, and absolutely motionless. Five, ten, fifteen minutes more passed, and then Mr. Grimm heard the grind and whir of an automobile a block or so away, coming toward the embassy. Now it was in front.

"Honk! Hon-on-onk!" it called plaintively. "Hon-on-onk! Honk!"

The signal! At last! The automobile went rushing on, full tilt, while Mr. Grimm removed his feet from the seat and dropped them noiselessly to the floor. Thus, with his hands on his knees, and listening, listening with every faculty strained, he sat motionless, peering toward the open door that led into the hall. The car was gone now, the sound of it swallowed up in the distance, still he sat there. It was obviously some noise in the house for which he was waiting.

Minute after minute passed, and still nothing. There was not even the whisper of a wind-stirred drapery. He was about to rise, when, suddenly, with no other noise than that of the sharp click of the switch, the electric lights in the room blazed up brilliantly. The glare dazzled Mr. Grimm with its blinding flood, but he didn't move. Then softly, almost in a whisper:

"Good evening, Mr. Grimm."

It was a woman's voice, pleasant, unsurprised, perfectly modulated. Mr. Grimm certainly did not expect it now, but he knew it instantly—there was not another quite like it in the wide, wide world—and though he was still blinking a little, he came to his feet courteously.

"Good morning, Miss Thorne," he corrected gravely.

Now his vision was clearing, and he saw her, a graceful figure, silhouetted against the rich green of the wall draperies. Her lips were curled the least bit, as if she might have been smiling, and her wonderful eyes reflected a glint of—of—was it amusement? The folds of her evening dress fell away from her, and one bare, white arm was extended, as her hand still rested on the switch.

"And you didn't hear me?" still in the half-whisper. "I didn't think you would. Now I'm going to put out the lights for an instant, while you pull the shades down, and then—then we must have a—a conference."

The switch snapped. The lights died as suddenly as they had been born, and Mr. Grimm, moving noiselessly, visited each of the four windows in turn. Then the lights blazed brilliantly again.

"Just for a moment," Miss Thorne explained to him quietly, and she handed him a sheet of paper. "I want you to read this—read it carefully—then I shall turn out the lights again. They are dangerous. After that we may discuss the matter at our leisure."

Mr. Grimm read the paper while Miss Thorne's eyes questioned his impassive face. At length he looked up indolently, listlessly, and the switch snapped. She crossed the room and sat down; Mr. Grimm sat beside her.

"I think," Miss Thorne suggested tentatively, "that that accounts perfectly for Monsieur Boissegur's disappearance."

"It gives one explanation, at least," Mr. Grimm assented musingly. "Kidnapped—held prisoner—fifty thousand dollars demanded for his safety and release." A pause. "And to whom, may I ask, was this demand addressed?"

"To Madame Boissegur," replied Miss Thorne. "I have the envelope in which it came. It was mailed at the general post office at half-past one o'clock this afternoon, so the canceling stamp shows, and the envelope was addressed, as the letter was written, on a typewriter."

"And how," inquired Mr. Grimm, after a long pause, "how did it come into your possession?" He waited a little. "Why didn't Monsieur Rigolot report this development to me this afternoon when I was here?"

"Monsieur Rigolot did not inform you of it because he did not know of it himself," she replied, answering the last question first. "It came into my possession directly from the hands of Madame Boissegur—she gave it to me."

"Why?"

Mr. Grimm was peering through the inscrutable darkness, straight into her face—a white daub in the gloom, shapeless, indistinct.

"I have known Madame Boissegur for half a dozen years," Miss Thorne continued, in explanation. "We have been friends that long. I met her in Tokio, later in Berlin, and within a few weeks, here in Washington. You see I have traveled in the time I have been an agent for my government. Well, Madame Boissegur received this letter about half-past four o'clock this afternoon; and about half-past five she sent for me and placed it in my hands, together with the singular details following upon the ambassador's disappearance. So, it would seem that you and I are allies for this once, and the problem is already solved. There merely remains the task of finding and releasing the ambassador."

Mr. Grimm sat perfectly still.

"And why," he asked, slowly, "are you here now?"

"For the same reason that you are here," she replied readily, "to see for myself if the—the person who twice came here at night—once for the ambassador's letters and once for his cigarettes—would, by any chance, make another trip. I knew you were here, of course."

His First Day in School.

It was a country school. A small, bright-faced boy had just been enrolled, and this was his first day. The teacher pointed out a desk for him, and gave him a lesson to study. He took his seat, propped his knees up against the desk, with his feet swinging down underneath, and soon became absorbed in his lesson. He became so absorbed, in fact, that he forgot he was in school, and presently he puckered up his lips and whistled first softly and then quite shrilly. The teacher laid down his pen in amazement, and cried sharply: "Who is that whistling?" The small boy looked up quickly, and then said, innocently: "That was me. Didn't you know I could whistle?"

Voting Machines.

Because some of the Buffalo voting machines did queer things with the figures on election day, there is an outcry in some quarters against them. Buffalo has been voting by machine for 12 years. The Express condemns the proposition to abolish them and go back to the old system, and the Utica Herald-Dispatch agrees with it and observes: "Utica, with its longer experience with the machines, will concur in this view. In fact, it would be impossible to persuade Uticans that return to the old system could ever be desirable."—New York Tribune.

ALL OVER THE STATE

TOLD IN SHORT ORDER

Allentown.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed Colonel Harry C. Trexler's monster barn at the Ormrod plant of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company. Colonel Trexler regarded it as the finest barn in the state, and it was built at a cost of more than twenty-five thousand dollars to replace one on the same site, destroyed mysteriously two years ago, the first floor being entirely of iron and concrete. The livestock was saved, but all this year's crops went with the superstructure and the total loss is about thirty-five thousand dollars, partly covered by blanket insurance. This is the sixth barn Col. Trexler has lost in five years.

Chester.—The coroner's jury in case of Mary Evans, the little girl who died in Crozer Hospital after being taken ill, supposedly from eating a cheap variety of candy, rendered a verdict to the effect that the death of the girl, who was two years old, was due to gastro enteritis, as shown by the diagnosis made by Dr. H. F. Taylor, the coroner's physician. Dr. J. A. Armaiz, an interne at Crozer Hospital, explained to the jury the condition of the child when she was admitted to the institution. He said from the symptoms he had formed the opinion that the girl had died from ptomaine poisoning.

Reading.—Miss Ida Miller, aged 28 years, was brought here from Lancaster on the charge of robbing her former employer, Levi Moch, of a gold watch and chain, valued at $50; a diamond ring, worth $40; three other rings, a gold bar stickpin and bric-a-brac. She admitted the theft and was committed to jail.

Reading.—Financial aid to the amount of $1000 was received by the Neversink Mountain Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and with the revenue from the fruit and grape yield of the property and collection day, September 19, coming on, it is hoped that the condition of the treasury will soon be relieved so that the sanatorium will not be closed.

Reading.—The biggest fish caught in this section for many years was pulled out of the Tulpehocken creek by Walter Greber, of the Cotton Bud Camping Club. After a struggle lasting more than a half hour the fish was landed. It proved to be a monster carp, 33 inches long and weighed seventeen and one-half pounds.

Mauch Chunk.—Mrs. Mary Packer Cummings, in whose honor the magnificent Second Ward school building is called the Asa Packer School Building, at a meeting of the Board of Education presented that body with a check for four thousand dollars to be used in defraying school expenses.

Huntingdon.—Mazie Wilson, an 11 year old girl of Connellsville, visiting in this place, disappeared in Blair's Park and a large hunting party searched for her believing she had been abducted. Her body was found in Stone Creek, near a spring, where she had evidently gone for a drink and fell in.

Reading.—Albert J. Detweiler, aged nineteen years, the only support of his widowed mother and four smaller brothers and sisters, was killed on the Lebanon Valley bridge of the Reading Road.

Lewistown.—Roy Folk, aged 15, and Williams Muthersbaugh, 20, were held in $300 and $500 bail respectively for their appearance before the Grand Jury at the August court on charges of forgery.

Williamsport.—Joseph Fousel, aged 45 years, of Du Boistown, went out in a boat with two companions to take a swim in the river. The boat capsized and Fousel was drowned.

Mauch Chunk.—Because the weavers in the Derry Silk Mills at East Mauch Chunk were reduced three-fourths of a cent per yard, five hundred of them went on a strike, causing the mill to suspend operations.

Northampton.—A contract has been awarded for an addition to double the capacity of the Meyer silk plant here. It will provide space for two hundred new looms, which will employ two hundred additional hands.

Allentown.—Overcome by grief and excitement, Mrs. Amanda H. Jacoby, of Allentown, aged 63, died on a trolley car several miles out of town, en route to inform her sister that their brother, Alfred Fink, a Civil War veteran, had died.

Allentown.—Report was made to the Allentown police of the disappearance of Harry Miller, an insurance agent, who is accused of having deserted his wife and baby two weeks ago.

Allentown.—Some fiend, by poisoning dogs and cattle, has created a reign of terror among the Lehigh farmers at the base of the Blue Mountain near Germansville, and anyone venturing on any of their farms after nightfall does so at the risk of his life, as every farmer in that section has a loaded gun ready to shoot to kill. In former years it was nothing uncommon to have the best hunting and coon dogs in that section die from poison, but this summer horses, cattle and swine are meeting a like fate.

TERMS.—The terms of subscription to the Reporter are one dollar per year in advance.

ADVERTISING RATES.—Display advertisement of ten or more inches for three or more insertions, eight cents per inch for each issue. Display advertising occupying less space than ten inches and for less than three insertions, from ten to twenty cents per inch for each issue, according to composition.

Local notices accompanying display advertising five cents per line for each insertion; otherwise, eight cents per line, minimum charge twenty-five cents.

Legal notices, twenty cents per line for three insertions, and ten cents per line for each additional insertion.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

RECORDER.

We are authorized to announce that W. Francis Speer, of Bellefonte, is a candidate for the nomination for Recorder by the Democratic party; subject to the primaries on September 30th.

LOCALS

W. H. F. Rossman and Miss Clara Condo, of Spring Mills, spent Monday evening with Mrs. H. W. Kreamer.

Miss Mary L. Campbell, of Linden Hall, September 1st will again go to Annville, Lebanon county, where she will attend high school, this being her third year.

Mrs. Kate R. Marshall and daughter Miss May of Kansas City, Missouri; and Ralph Musser, of Milesburg, were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Campbell, at Linden Hall.

During a heavy rain Wednesday afternoon of last week lightning struck the dwelling house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John Kreamer. It was a light stroke and did little harm.

Last week Mrs. Laura Lee went to Altoona to visit her sister, Mrs. James Herring. If present plans are consummated Mrs. Lee will go on to Pittsburg and there will be joined with another sister, Mrs. John F. Mullen, and the two will go to Kansas to visit Mrs. C. E. Peck, at Sylvan Grove, who is also a sister.

James Decker, of Pine Grove Mills, has again secured the privilage to conduct the boarding house on Grange Park, during the Encampement and Fair. Mr. Decker has been very successful in the bussiness in the past, and no doubt will take the best of care of his patrons during the gathring in September.

J. Emory Hoy is taking a two weeks' vacation from banking business in Philadelphia, and is spending a portion of the time in Centre Hall, and the remainder at State College, his former home. Mr. Hoy is a cashier at the Belmont Savings and Trust Company, and like all office men enjoys the vacation period to its fullest extent.

A year or more ago J. O. Stover sold A. P. Luse & Son a tract of timber land in the Seven Mountains, and agreed to stock the mill and haul the lumber to Centre Hall. The work of stocking and sawing is now almost completed, and after sixty more thousand feet of timber are delivered here, Mr. Stover thinks his contract will be finished.

William Reiber, the south-side apiarist, was in Centre Hall on Tuesday, having come here to ship a hundred and fifty pounds of honey to distant customers. This is but a part of his crop of the sweets. The bees did not come out of winter quarters in the best of condition, and consequently were not able to do their best when the honey-gathering season came on.

It has often been remarked that the Lock Haven State Normal School has the most attractive location of any other Normal School in the state. It has a fine climate, splendid drainage, and absolutely pure water. Epidemics are practically unknown. Its students come from every section of Pennsylvania and the spirit of the school is progressive and elevating. The fall term begins September 11th. Write for its illustrated catalog.

A little son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Luse, of near Centre Hall, had two similar accidents that might have resulted more disastrously. When taking the binder to the field to cut oats, George, who is not three years old, unobserved by those about the machine got his hand in the guards when the knife was being inserted, cutting one of his fingers. When the machine was brought from the field the boy again watched the process of working the knives, and when they were removed one of his tiny fingers was almost severed.

Among the Reporter's callers on Tuesday was Capt. William E. Snyder, who next month will become seventy-eight years of age. He is a veteran of the civil war, having been a member of Company D, 208th Regiment, P. V. I. He thinks he is not quite as nimble as he used to be in 1861, at about which time he came to Centre Hall regularly every morning to help in the building of the house in which W. B. Mingle, Esq., now lives. The house was erected by Rev. Lewis Shaffer, a Dunkard minister. Captain Snyder, however, makes the three miles to his home, on foot, in remarkably good time, considering that he is bordering on eighty.

Encampment an Advertising Medium.

The Reporter has repeatedly called the attention of the local dealers in implements and wares of all kinds of the great benefit offered by the Grange Encampment and Fair as an advertising medium. The De Laval Monthly in its August issue in a number of articles appeals to the agents to take advantages of the gatherings of this characer.

Following is one of the arguments puts forth by the monthly named:

We fear that many of our agents in the past have not appreciated the importance of making an attractive exhibit at the local fair, nor the advantage of such fairs as business getting and advertising mediums, and we believe that proper representation of all our agents at their local county fairs will greatly advance the interests of both ourselves and our agents. Nobody in this enlightened age questions the value and need of good advertising and there is no other time or event throughout the year that offers the local agents so many opportunities of getting himself and the goods he has to sell so prominently before the majority of the purchasing public.

De Laval agents will do well to remember the good adage:

"He who whispers down a Well,
About the goods he has to sell,
Will never reap the golden dollars,
Like he who climbs a tree and hollers."

Educating the Farmers.

It is a pity that the special appropriation for field work by the State Department of Agriculture, failed of passage during the last days of the session of 1911, while much vicious legislation was being rushed through House and Senate.

But in spite of that failure there are to be during the current fiscal year, six weeks of Movable Farm Schools and four hundred days of Farmers' Institutes in the various agricultural counties of the State.

In the past these Farm schools and Farmers' Institues have been of great benefit to the farmers, although the Legislature has made no adequate provision for them.

Their success has been largely due to the intelligent and enthusiastic efforts of Deputy Secretary of Agriculture A. L. Martin. Institutes will be held in this county at Centre Hall, Stormstown, and Port Matilda.

In this educational work Mr. Martin has earned the high appreciation of the farmers of the State, and more generous treatment by the Legislature than he has received.

Linden Hall.

Mrs. William McClintic visited friends in Millheim last week.

J. L. Tressler is having concrete walks put down around his farm house.

Don't forget the festival which will be held by the mission band on Saturday evening. All are invited.

The school board had a new porch built to the front of the Rock Hill school house. The contractor was John Gingerich.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ross and Mrs. Bliss Meyer and little daughter Elizabeth are away on a trip to Petersburg, Alexandria and Huntingdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McFarlane entertained Rev. and Mrs. Thompson, of Reedsville, and Rev. Harnish, of Lemont, at dinner last Thursday.

A. P. Wieland, on his way home from a three months' business trip which extended through the Dakotas, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Canada, stopped over night with his brothers before returning to his home in Harrisburg. He was accompanied by his brother, Scott Wieland, of Williamsport.

Sunday morning three automobiles started from this place for Huntingdon. In the first auto were Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClellan, of Linden Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Harry McClellan, of Tusseyville, and Charles McClellan, of Millheim. In the second were Mrs. J. W. Keller and sons Harry and Ned, and Mrs. James Swabb. In the third were Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Wieland and daughter Edwina, and Miss Maud Miller. The party reached Huntingdon at ten o'clock, and were entertained at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, where they were joined by Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Black and Mrs. Peter Weber and daughter Alice. After having partaken of the excellent dinner served by Mrs. Hall, the party drove through the town, taking in the various places of interest. On their return they brought with them Mildred, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E Wieland, who had been spending the week with her cousin, Virginia Hall. With the exception of a puncture, the trip was made without an accident, although the roads in some places were very much washed by the recent rains. The party arrived home about seven o'clock.

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can, as a rule, be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy has no superior for bowel complaints. For sale by all dealers.

DEATHS.

Samuel Wilson Barr died at his home at Tyrone after a brief illness from kidney and heart troubles, Saturday evening. He was born near Lewistown, April 25, 1834, and died at the age of seventy-seven years. When a young man he taught school near Linden Hall, and later followed clerking in a general store in McVeytown, after which he entered the hardware business in Williamsport. During the Civil War he was register and recorder of Mifflin county. In 1886 he went to Tyrone and became a partner of James A. Crawford in the hardware business. He sold out his interest in the store in 1872 and became bookkeeper for the McCamant and Harper planing mill, which later became the McCamant & Company mill. He served in this last capacity until the time of his death. He served a term as burgess of Tyrone and later as councilman.

On November 27, 1867, he was united in marriage at Potters Mills to Miss Mary E. Stiver, to which union were born three children, two of whom with their mother survive—W. C. and Miss Elsie S. Barr—one son, Ralph, having passed away in 1879. He was the son of the late Samuel and Sibelia Barr. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church at Tyrone.

Mrs. Reuben Crust, aged about fifty-two years, died at her home near Filmore. Interment was made Monday. A husband and five sons survive.

LOCALS.

James R. Brooks, of Pleasant Gap, father of the Brooks brothers, near Centre Hall, is quite ill.

A party of young people from Centre Hall, Spring Mills, and Rebersburg gathered at the Penns Cave House Tuesday evening and enjoyed a social time.

Daniel Wion, whose serious illness has been mentioned during the past month, continues to waste away. He has been unable to partake of food for a week.

Dr. Louis Robb, of Wilkinsburg, will fill the Reformed appointments at Spring Mills, and Centre Hall next Sunday holding Harvest Home services at each place.

William Cumings, farmer, west of Old Fort, sold $360 worth of timothy seed this season. It is the intention to bale the straw which will further add to the value of the crop.

Rev. S. A. Snyder, pastor of the United Evangelical Church, will conconduct the Harvest Home services on Grange Park, Sunday afternoon prior to the Encampment and Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Kreamer and daughter Rebecca, and Mrs. Rebecca Scholl drove to near Madisonburg to the home of Thomas Scholl, where Mrs. Kreamer and daughter remained for a few days, the others returning the same day.

Troup No. 4, Lewistown Boy Scouts, under Wm. P. Woods, brother of Judge Woods, with W. J. Conrad as instructor, pitched their tents on Grange Park, Tuesday night. They hiked from Lewistown to Penns Cave and then to Centre Hall. From here they started for Bellefonte, thence to State College, Pennsylvania Furnace and Spruce Creek.

Every morning William H. Moyer, of near Colyer, hauls into the Seven Mountains from ten to fifteen berry pickers and in the evening they and the day's crop of berries are brought out into the valley. From two to five hundred quarts of the berries are gathered in this way every day. Mr. Moyer buys the berries from the pickers, and hauls them to the Lewistown district where they are resold.

Mrs. L. R. Custer and son Philip, of Munhall, are at the Centre Hall hotel. Mrs. Custer before her marriage was Miss Mary Miller, youngest daughter of Rev. J. K. Miller, and claims Centre Hall as her old home. Mr. Custer holds a responsible position with one of the large steel concerns in the Pittsburg district. The Custers just returned from an extended tour through the Virginias in a Packard touring car, which is their way of traveling when Mr. Custer accompanies the family.

Way back in the early sixties, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnston McCloskey, and their three sons left Sprucetown for the west, finally locating at Clay Center, Nebraska, where both the elder McCloskeys died. Two of the sons—William F. and Horatio B.—are now living at Clay Center, and David E., at Girard, Kansas, all engaged in farming. William F. arrived in Centre Hall on Monday, and in company with G. L. Goodhart called at the Reporter office on Tuesday. The dry weather very much interfered with the development of the crops in Nebraska, the oats being almost a total failure, and the pastures being dried up. As a rule, Mr. McCloskey says the crops are good in that section of the west, and farming is done with much less labor than in Pennsylvania.

A well known Des Moines woman after suffering miserably for two days from bowel complaint, was cured by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

Ralph Rishel made a trip to Nittany on his motorcycle on Saturday.

Mrs. J. N. Dinges visited at Bellefonte and Lemont for a few days.

Adam Krumrine, of Tusseyville, attended to business at Boalsburg on Tuesday.

Miss Annie Lohr attended the Methodist Sunday-school picnic at Centre Hall on Saturday.

Thomas Lingle, of Cherokee, Iowa, was a guest at the home of William Goheen over Sunday.

Alpheus Wolf, of Camden, New Jersey, spent Friday at the home of his aunt, Mrs. William Stover.

Mrs. Helen Roan with her little boys, of Lemont, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Young.

Harvest Home services will be held in the Reformed church on Sunday forenoon at 10:15.

Miss Travila Reish, of Altoona, is enjoying this week with Misses Mary Reish and Nora Miller.

Misses Henrietta McGirk and Margaret Young were recent visitors from Altoona.

Robert McCrae and family, of Bellevue, are visiting at Mrs. McCrae's former home.

Misses Helen Riley and Margaret Weber are enjoying a visit of several weeks with relatives at Altoona and Sinking Valley.

J. B. Goheen with his little grandson, George Goheen, of Rock Springs, spent part of Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Boalsburg.

Forester A. P. Rupp who is located at Fort Lowden, is spending part of his vacation at the home of his parents at Boalsburg.

Mrs. Ida Sullivan, of Bellefonte, who returned on Saturday from a visit at Milton, remained over Sunday with friends at Boalsburg.

Mrs. John Wolf with her daughters, Lulu, Bertha and Hazel, of Avis, and Mrs. William Johnson with her daughters, Beulah and Eunice and son Chester, of Pine Hall, were visitors at the home of their sister, Mrs. John Durner.

Jacob B. Sprow, of Centre Hall, and Sadie C. Bower, of Coburn, were married at the Reformed parsonage by Rev. S. C. Stover early Sunday morning. They went to State College on their wedding trip and spent the day with relatives.

With the new automatic oiling system the interior frame construction of the DeLaval cream seperator is so designed that the oil is caught up by the revolving gears and distributed in a fine mist-like spray, not only between the meshing gears, as in other machines, but throughout the length of every shaft and bearing of the machine. This results in such complete and thorough lubrication that all of the metal surfaces are practically floating in oil at all times and literally never touch each other during their operation. The machines are sold by D. W. Bradford, at Centre Hall. Call him over the Bell lines or write, and he will be at your service.

Buy it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy has no superior. For sale by all dealers.

Why Cream Tests Vary.

The United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, D. C., in circular No. 10, gives various reasons why cream tests vary. The circular says:

"The conditions affecting the efficiency of skimming and the relative amounts of cream and skim milk which may cause variations in the test of cream are as follows: The breed of cattle, period of lactation, length of intervals between milkings, change of feed, change of milkers, exposure of cattle to bad weather, rough treatment, unusual excitement or sickness, change in the temperature of milk, variation in richness of milk, acidity of milk, variation of the speed of the separator, variation in the steadiness of the bowl, rate of flow into the machine, adjustment of the cream screw, and the amount of flush water used."

A meeting of the W. C. T. U will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. W. Whitman.

The Tin Plated Tomato and the Moral That Goes With It.

A good theory that won't work isn't half as good as a poor one that will.

Twenty years ago a young man just out of college had a great idea. He was going to tin plate tomatoes. There was to be no more troublesome paring and cooking and canning to preserve tomatoes throughout winters. It would be necessary only to drop a nice ripe tomato into his tinning solution and it would come out coated with tin and would keep for twenty years. In fact, there wasn't any reason why it should not keep forever! The young inventor figured it would cost him 50 cents a gallon to make this tinning solution. It surely would sell for $2 a gallon. Every one eats tomatoes—that is, nearly every one. Everybody would eat them if they could always have a nice tin plated tomato lying around. He ought to sell a million gallons a year. That would be a profit of a million and a half dol— Well, no tin plated tomatoes are on the market yet, and the man who invented them is still making only $15 a week.

The moral of this is that whenever you hear of a great idea that is going to reform or uplift the world make sure that it is not of the tin plated tomato brand.—Chicago Tribune.

THINK THIS OVER

You say you can make more from your surplus than a life insurance policy will make for you.

How much comfort of mind will your "increased earnings" bring you when you are ill and face the question of your family's needs?

Mental worry and illness combined speeds death.

Mental ease contributes to longevity.

A Royal Union policy is the greatest balm in the world for that feeling of uncertainty about your family's future if you are no longer here to provide for them, and for the time when age will impair your activity. HORTICULTURE

MAKING GOOD CIDER VINEGAR

Process Is Simple and Involves Very Little Work—Cleanliness Is First Important Factor.

(By S. M. MILLER.)

There are many apple orchards, especially those that have never been sprayed or cultivated, in which large quantities of apples are allowed to go to waste every year.

Such fruit makes a good grade of cider vinegar, and a handsome profit can be made in utilizing it in this way.

Even if one sprays and cultivates the orchard regularly each season and does everything possible to prevent having anything but marketable fruit there will always be a good many culls.

However, do not allow these unmerchantable apples to go to waste. Make cider vinegar from them and get a good price for the product right here at home.

Making cider vinegar is very simple. There is practically no labor attached to it other than extracting the juice from the apples.

Perfect cleanliness first, last and all the time is a matter of vital importance. Apples that are picked up from the ground are usually dirty and should be thoroughly washed before being placed in the cider mill.

The mill and all utensils used in the making must be kept well cleaned if a good product is to be made. To use unclean fruit or unclean vessels simply invites bad fermentation.

If all sorts of germs which are found on dirty and decayed fruit are put in the cider a good quality of vinegar must not be expected.

Where one has no mill the fruit can be pulped by hand with wooden mauls in a wooden trough, and where only a sufficient quantity of vinegar is wanted for home use it is not a difficult matter to secure it in this way.

The best receptacles in which to put the cider are molasses kegs or barrels, preferably those which have held vinegar previously, since fermentation commences sooner when the fermenting organism is present than when it must find its way into the liquid from outside mediums.

To made a good grade of vinegar two factors are essential during the process of fermentation. First, the air must have free access to the liquid to support the organism. Second, the temperature must be favorable for the growth of the fermenting agent.

The barrels or kegs should be placed in a room where the temperature will be fairly constant at 70 to 75 degrees, placed on their sides in order to give more surface to the atmosphere, and filled with the juice to within six inches to eight inches of the bunghole.

KEEP THE LAWN BEAUTIFUL

Rake All Moss Out and Cut Dandelions and Plantain Well Below Crowns—Plant Borders.

Go over the lawn and if you find moss rake it out. Cut well below the crowns of dandelions and plantain. If possible top dress the lawn with leaf mold or thoroughly rotten straw or manure.

The continuous flowering border recommends itself to the busy housewife who wants a lot of flowers and who has but little time to give to them. Prepare a border two or two and one-half feet wide and spade it two feet deep, enriching it with well-rotted manure. Into this border plant all sorts of annuals, perennials and bulbs, placing the tall growing ones in the back row and the short ones along the edge of the border. As the years pass the border will grow in beauty and bloom ten months in the year—almost.

USEFUL LOW-WHEEL WAGON

Has Been Found Practically Indispensable for Various Jobs Around Farm Every Day in Year.

Every farmer knows that there are numberless small jobs about the place that require the use of a wagon where the bed will be close to the ground so as to make the lift as short as possible.

That need has been met with the low-wheel wagon and has made it practically indispensable for gathering apples, and hauling basket fruit, fodder, manure, hay and grain, clearing the fields of stones and stumps and carrying tools and timber for fixing up fences, or any odd job, say, like hauling away a fallen tree.

Then there is nothing that fills the bill better for all kinds of work in the corn fields. There is no earthly reason why a man should lift the corn as high as his shoulder when the low wagon will permit him to perform the labor in the same amount of time, to say nothing of the wear and tear on a man's back and body.

Almost every year a farmer buys some implement that he can use only during one season of the year—perhaps only a few days; but the low wheel wagon is something that he can use every day in the year.

The broad tires make the draft lighter, and that means saving the team. Of course for certain kinds of road use there will always be a demand for the narrow tire wheels, but on a smooth surface and particularly where the ground is soft the pull on the team is decreased 25 per cent to 50 per cent for the simple reason that the broad tires do not sink into the ground; the wider bearing surface of the tire distributes the load in such a manner as to buoy the wagon up and keep it on top of the ground.

Especially on plowed ground or very muddy roads these wheels do not mire like the ordinary wheels, which of course makes the saving on the horses even greater.

FRUIT TURNED INTO METAL

Scientist Has Secret Process By Which Flowers and Fruit Are Converted Into Solid Mass.

By means of a secret process, Prof. L. G. Delamothe, a European scientist, is said to convert flowers, fruit and even animal tissue into metal, says Popular Mechanics. He does not deposit a thin layer of metal upon the surface, as in electroplating, but is said actually to transmute the life-grown material into dead metal.

The bunch of grapes shown in the illustration was so converted, the grapes and leaves having all their natural tints in the metal. The treatment is accomplished by an electrical agency.

HORTICULTURAL NOTES

It is good practice to graft plums on peach stock.

A spraying of the currant and other small fruit bushes will help.

Fruit should never be offered for sale that is exposed to flies.

An orchard neglected for one year virtually puts it back three years.

If the rabbits have gnawed only the outer bark, wrap the wound with cloth.

If your orchard produces poor fruit you may be sure there is a reason and you ought to find it.

Grape vines make a beautiful arbor, and if properly taken care of will pay their way every year in fruit.

Do not be stingy of water for the plants. Soak them plenty once or twice a week, and don't dribble once a day.

It is a great mistake to pick out the poorest soil on the place on which to plant the orchard. The best is none too good.

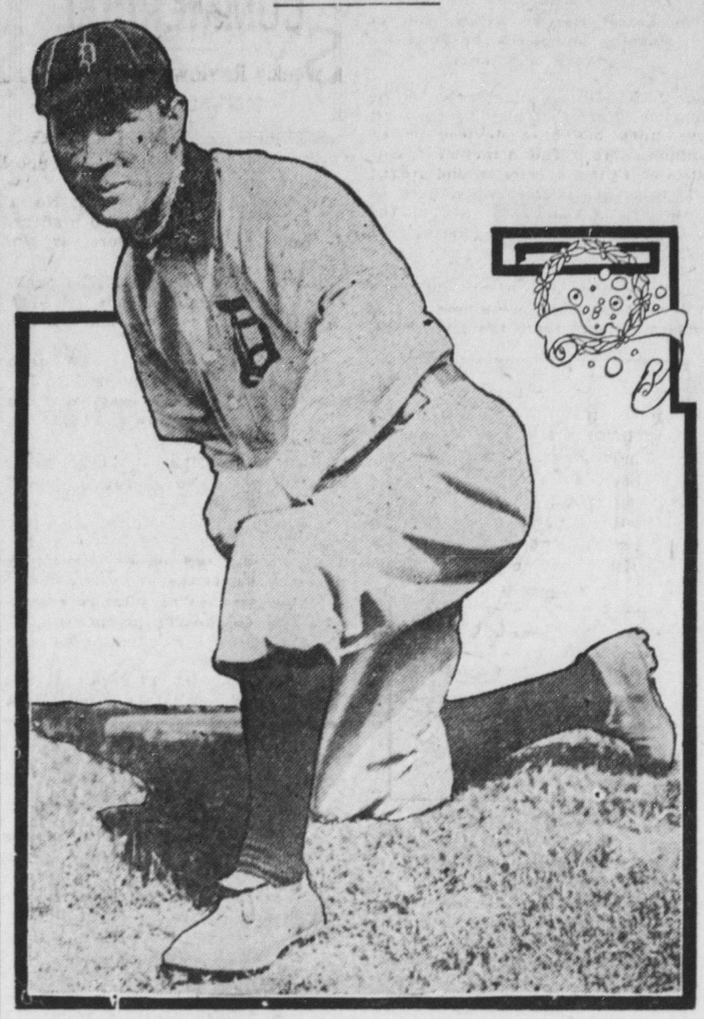
If a man sells fruit of which he is ashamed then he should throw away his stencil and conceal all evidence of his ownership.

The flowers will require close attention now to keep them tidy. Pick off all the seed pods and dead leaves and keep after the weeds.

Lemon and orange growers have learned that it is best to wash and wipe them before packing to prevent the spread of rot fungi.

The reason fruit trees planted in fence corners and out of the way places do not thrive generally may be found in the fact that they are not cultivated.

TIGER OUTFIELDERS HAVE STRONG ARMS



Manager Hughey Jennings of Detroit.

Seven ball clubs in the American league respect Detroit's outfield. Cobb, Crawford and Jones compose a combination that has no equal in the league, viewed from any standpoint.

One of the greatest requisites for outfielders is throwing, next to hitting. When a young outfielder is "spotted" the scout, after devouring the batting average, will ascertain if the player can throw. An outfielder, to be ranged with the good ones, must be able to have an arm which can throw accurately and with dispatch.

That Detroit's outfielders are respected when it comes to throwing was emphasized most forcibly in a recent game with Cleveland.

With one out in the fifth, Harkness walked. Graney, next up, hit a long single to right center. Cobb fielded the ball, but when Harkness reached second he hesitated before going to third, then returned to the bag. Manager Jennings would have censured any player on his team for not trying for third on such a long hit. But Harkness feared Cobb's deadly arm.

The next man up, Stovall, lifted a high fly to Crawford. Sam played in deep right for it, but Harkness still remained glued to second. This time he feared Sam's arm.

Jackson followed with a single to left field, which sent Harkness to third just when Davey Jones was fielding the ball in deep left, but the Cleveland pitcher hesitated again. Jones has nailed a couple of runners this season who tried to make home. Confronted with this thought and the coacher's signal Harkness remained on third. Two clean drives and yet Harkness was coached not to score.

The point to be emphasized is that Cleveland players have been drilled not to take liberties with Detroit's outfielders, for every one of the trio can throw. Harkness received his instructions from the coaching lines and therefore is excused.

JOHNNY EVERS AS MANAGER

Herrmann Declares Next Head of Cincinnati Team Will Be Player—Trojan Mentioned.

"Yes, the next manager of the Reds will be a playing manager," said President Herrmann the other day. Garry is back at his office after a two weeks' absence, during which time he was forced to read the reports of numerous Red reverses.

"We will move heaven and earth to bring to Cincinnati the man best qualified for the position," continued Garry. "We have several in view and will attempt to get one of them either by trade or purchase."

It was rumored in Cincinnati the other day that Second Baseman Johnny Evers of the Chicago club will probably be the next Red manager. Evers, it is said, should be in condition to play his usual good game next season, and his presence in the infield would go a great way toward bracing up the club.

The Chicago club, it is not believed, will stand in Evers' way, if he has a chance to take over the Red management.

"George Stallings, manager of the Buffalo club of the Eastern league, is not under consideration," said President Herrman.

DIAMOND GOSSIP

Cleveland's alleged "misfits" make the "experts" look foolish.

King Cole does not seem able to come back at all this season.

The American association is having a real race of it at present.

The pendulum is on the return trip. Player-managers are now in demand.

Baltimore has sold Catcher Egan to the Philadelphia Athletics for fall delivery.

It is rumored that the officials have gone back to the old baseball in use last season.

No team in the American league has suffered more from injuries this year than the White Sox.

Hargrove, the young catcher reported bought by the Pirates, is only 18 years old. He is hitting .300.

Marty O'Toole, who made the association strike-out record, also held the same honors in the Western league for 1910.

Pat Dougherty really enjoys the role of emergency hitter much better than he does a regular berth in the outfield.

Ira Thomas, Athletic catcher, says that Clark Griffith is one of the best managers in either league. Ira worked under him in New York.

The Cleveland club has announced the purchase of Catcher Stephen O'Neil from the Worcester, Mass., club of the New England league.

Now that the Cardinals are a winning team, all the past, present and future, near and distant relatives of Stanley Robison want their share.

Black, the seventh candidate that Bobby Wallace has tried out at first this season, has been succeeded by Dode Criss, the pinch hitting pitcher.

There might be a lot of bidding for the services of Magee if the Philadelphia club would only indicate in some way that an offer would be considered.

Luderus might be a lot of help to the Cubs right now if they had him, but President Murphy is certain that Saier is better than the Phillie youngster.

John I. Taylor would have traded Joe Wood and Bill Carrigan last year for almost anything or anybody. He wouldn't take a big pile of kale for the pair right now.

Ed Reulbach has taken a little waif lad under his philanthropic wing. He bought him a hair cut and something to eat, then landed him a job as popcorn butcher at the Boston park.

SOME UTILITY BALL TOSSERS

Manager Fred Tenney of the Boston Nationals, Tells of Some Remarkable All-Round Players.

"Just as a chain is only as strong as its weakest link, so a ball club is only as strong as its substitutes," says Fred Tenney, manager of the Boston Nationals. "Therefore, it will be just as necessary to use a careful discrimination in the choice of substitutes as in the selection of the regular men. A few years ago, when baseball was in its infancy, the players could nearly all play the different positions. Today there are comparatively few who can do this.

"This is the age of specialization, and nowhere is it more aptly illustrated than on the ball field. Men train themselves for perfection in one position, disregarding all others. Occasionally a man appears who seems able to accommodate himself to any change of position.

"Such a man was Shoch, of the old Brooklyn club. Jimmy Stafford was another player almost a replica of Shoch. When in New York he was played in about every position in the field.

Lowe, of Boston, was one of those baseball phenomenons who could play any position on the team in first-class style. Starting as a catcher, then going to the outfield, he made a great record in the minor leagues. Coming to Boston in 1890 as utility man, he was soon played regularly on account of his heavy batting. He was shifted to second base when Quinn was sold. Here he became one of the greatest in the business. His last year in Boston found him a guardian of third base. Again he ranked with the foremost. While Lowe was at home anywhere, he could not be used as a utility man, as he was far too strong a regular. During the last few years of playing he was used in the utility role with marked success. His work in that capacity helped Detroit to win many a game.

"Strang was one of the bright lights of the utility men. He reverted to the Shoch-Stafford type, never good as a regular, but excellent as an occasional player.

Wagner, like Lowe, can play anywhere with marked success. Indeed he has filled nearly all positions for his club, but his is another case of being too valuable as a regular to permit of using him as utility man. Undoubtedly he would shine as such, and when he begins to slow down will probably be used in that capacity.

Chicago for many years kept Hofman as utility man, even after he had demonstrated how strong a player he really was.

New York now has a young fellow who will bear lots of watching lest he wrest the laurels from other utility players. I refer to Fletcher, who, in the short time he has been in the league, has made very rapid strides toward the top.

Of all these men I would select Lowe as the first substitute, with Hofman as a close second choice.

"As an all-star, all-time National league club I should pick the following line-up: Hamilton, center field; Keeler, right field; McCarthy, left field; Wagner, shortstop; Chance, first base; Collins, third base; Evers, second base; Bennett, Kling, Bresnahan, catchers; Mathewson, Brown, Nichols, Phillipi, McGinnity, pitchers; Lowe, Hofman, subs.

MILLERS GET ALTIZER BACK

"Dare Devil," Given Thorough Trial by Cincinnati Team, Is Returned to Minneapolis.

Dave ("Dare Devil") Altizer.

Recruit Esmond promising so well Griff listened to the plea of Joe Cantillon and shiped the former White Sox back to his 1910 home.

Sunday Baseball Uplift.

Sunday baseball by professional teams is distinctly a helpful moral force, according to Chief of Police Cowles of New Haven, Conn. In reply to a demand from church organizations that he suppress the Sunday games at Lighthouse Point in the suburbs, Chief Cowles says:

"Sunday baseball by professionals will continue at Lighthouse Point so long as the game is conducted in an orderly manner, because it draws young men from the streets and lessens the number of arrests for drunkenness and disorder. Many young men are attracted to the shore by the Sunday games who would otherwise loiter on street corners, and from my own personal observation I know it lowers the number of cases in the courts Monday."

Dying by Organs.

It has been discovered that if a human being dies after an ordinary illness and not a violent death he does not die all over and all at once. He may have a diseased liver, heart or lung, and this may be the cause of his death; but it has been found that if the diseased organ could have been replaced by a healthy one life might have been maintained indefinitely. This is no imagination or speculation. It has been confirmed by the most careful experiments by the ablest medical scientists in the country—Leslie's Weekly.

STRONGER THAN MEAT

A Judge's Opinion of Grape-Nuts.

A gentleman who has acquired a judicial turn of mind from experience on the bench out in the Sunflower State writes a carefully considered opinion as to the value of Grape-Nuts as food. He says:

"For the past 5 years Grape-Nuts has been a prominent feature in our bill of fare.

"The crisp food with the delicious, nutty flavor has become an indispensable necessity in my family's everyday life.

"It has proved to be most healthful and beneficial, and has enabled us to practically abolish pastry and pies from our table, for the children prefer Grape-Nuts, and do not crave rich and unwholesome food.

"Grape-Nuts keeps us all in perfect physical condition—as a preventive of disease it is beyond value. I have been particularly impressed by the beneficial effects of Grape-Nuts when used by ladies who are troubled with face blemishes, skin eruptions, etc. It clears up the complexion wonderfully.

"As to its nutritive qualities, my experience is that one small dish of Grape-Nuts is superior to a pound of meat for breakfast, which is an important consideration for anyone. It satisfies the appetite and strengthens the power of resisting fatigue, while its use involves none of the disagreeable consequences that sometimes follow a meat breakfast." SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies have done for me. For two years I suffered. The doctors said I had tumors, and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

Ended Cat's Sojourn.

Felix Smith of Easton, Pa., bought a cat the other day. He paid $5 for her. Why did Felix pay five bucks for the cat? Answer—Because she was guaranteed to be a good ratter. Did Felix have rats? We should say he did—the house was full of 'em! And the cat cleaned 'em out! No; tha's the curious part of it. After the cat had been on the job a week the rats were as plentiful as ever. Felix couldn't understand it until one evening he concealed himself in the basement to watch the cat. About 9 p. m., as the cat sat with her eye on a rat hole, Felix says that rat after rat came out of the hole, walked up to the old cat, kissed her good-night and then returned to the hole. After that Felix kicked the cat out of the house.—Boston Post.

RULES AND RECIPES

FOR THE PREPARATION AND PRESERVATION OF JAM.

Remarkable Precautions Are Imperative if One Would Achieve Perfection—Some Things That Must Be Kept in Mind.

Granted a little care, jam making at home does not present great difficulties and really entails very little expense, especially if the fruit is home grown. There are a few rules to be borne in mind, as follows:

Do not allow tin, iron, or pewter to touch the jam, as any of these are liable to spoil the color.

Everything employed in the jam making must be scrupulously clean.

The sugar must be the best.

The fruit must be gathered on a dry day, any that is imperfect or damaged being discarded. It should be just ripe.

The jam should be boiled until on dropping a little on a plate it jellies. Jam should be boiled fast to preserve the color of the fruit, and kept well stirred.

All scum must be carefully removed as it rises.

Dry fruit requires the addition of a little liquid to prevent its burning, and for this either water, rhubarb or currant juice may be used.

Jam must be stored in a cool, dry place, free from drafts and in an even temperature.

If any jam is spilt on the jars when pouring it in, wipe it off at once with a damp cloth wrung out in hot water.

Pear Jam—Core out, but do not peel, some good, ripe pears, slice them, crush them well in a bowl, and wring the pulp through very strong muslin. For every pound of this pulp add one-half pound of sugar, previously boiled to a thick syrup. Cook it very slowly on the stove until reduced to about two-thirds its original quantity. It should, when ready, be of the consistency of honey. Pour in jars, let cool and seal.

Rose Leaf Jam—Make a syrup of one pound loaf sugar and as little rose water as you can manage. Take one pound of rose leaves (the old red cabbage is the best rose for this) and dry these in the shade, after which scald them for a minute in boiling water; then drain and dry them and add them to the syrup with a spoonful of orange flower water. Cook it all to a marmalade, let cool, pour in glasses and cover with paraffin. This is very sweet. It is a Greek recipe.

ADD WEAR TO HANDKERCHIEF

Careful Washing of Delicate Fabrics Will Materially Prolong Their Time of Use.

Delicate handkerchiefs can be done up easily at home, and careful handling causes them to wear much better. Wet them, rub each gently over with good white soap, and soak in tepid water over night. Squeeze out (do not wring), put them in a small enameled pan, cover with cold water and half a teaspoonful of borax. Boil slowly, pour into a basin, add cold water and squeeze out all soap.

Next, immerse them in clear tepid water, rinse about in this; then plunge into cold water tinged with blue. Leave them in this half an hour, squeeze and dip into a slight stiffening (one teaspoonful of corn starch to a cupful of boiling water). Squeeze and roll caefully in a towel and iron with a moderately hot iron.

Cantaloupe Glace.

Cantaloupe glace is a delicacy that is truly delicious. Take melons that have been thoroughly chilled, cut in halves lengthwise, and scrape out the seeds. Fill the hollow of each half with vanilla ice cream, packing it in as firm as possible, leaving a little mound in the center. Place the halves together tightly, thus forcing the cream up into the fruit, causing the melon juice to mingle with the cream. When ready to serve, a knife run between the halves separates the fruit and slices the cream.

Fudge Cake.

One-third cup butter, two cups sugar, one cup sweet milk, two and one-half cups flour, one-half cup cocoa, three eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately, two level teaspoons baking powder, pinch salt, vanila to flavor, baking powder and salt together, milk and flour alternately, then add well beaten yolks, sift flour, cocoa, baking powder and salt together, milk and flour alternately, then add well beaten whites. Any good icing can be used.

Cold Process Cherries.

Pit nice cherries and cover with good vinegar and let stand over night, drain from the vinegar, and take a pound of white sugar to every pound of cherries; stir thoroughly and stand in cool place. Stir every few hours and when sugar is all dissolved and syrup is thick seal in self-sealing jars. Extra fine and superior to cranberries as a relish with meats or fowl.

Chrysanthemum Salad.

Shred a crisp cabbage and simmer ten minutes, drain and chill, then heap roughly on a bed of foliage. Mix two tablespoonfuls of tarragon vinegar, one tablespoonful of salad oil, one teaspoonful of celery salt, dash of pepper, pour over salad, garnish with tiny sweet peppers and hard boiled eggs. Allow to absorb dressing before serving.

SOMETHING NEW IN FORKS

The Latest Has an Attachment for Pushing Things Off the Tines —Handy in Kitchen.

A fork with an attachment for removing things that may be stuck on the tines has been devised by an Illinois man. The attachment consists of a piece of wire wound around the tines and doubled upon itself to form a long shaft that runs up the handle of the fork. By pushing this device down the wires scrape off anything that may be clinging to the points of the fork. Only the cook will appreciate the usefulness of this implement, but there are many occasions in the kitchen when it will come in handy. For instance, in transferring a piece of meat from the dish to the pan, or vice versa, the clean cook does not touch the meat with her hands, but lifts it with a fork. Sometimes it sticks to the fork and then the attachment here shown comes in handy, as it can be pushed off without looking around for some other implement.

TWO WAYS TO COOK POTATOES

Methods That Possibly May Be New to Some of Our Housewife Readers.

First—Take fresh, new potatoes, about the size of a marble, and boil them about 20 minutes. When done, pour off water and let steam evaporate. Have boiling lard in skillet; fry about five minutes. Lift out and drain quickly, then put them into a saucepan with two tablespoons of butter, into which you have rubbed a teaspoon prepared mustard. Add dash of cayenne pepper and two teaspoons vinegar. Cook three minutes, shaking constantly. Add yolks of two eggs, well beaten. Serve immediately.

Second—Boil, peel and mash fine six potatoes. Add one tablespoon butter, minced parsley and half an onion minced very fine. Add yolks of two eggs, beaten very light; then form the potatoes into balls and throw them for two minutes into boiling water; take out, brush with the whites of the eggs, roll in powdered bread crumbs and fry in boiling lard. Drain and serve with fish or meat.

The Hagekeeper

The cleaning of the kitchen range will be made much easier if all grease is rubbed from it or the gas stove with a newspaper while still hot.

When light oak trays have been badly marked, wash well and rub with warm beer until the stains have disappeared. Polish in the usual way.

When sweeping carpets always remember to sweep the way of the grain. To brush the wrong way is not only bad for the carpet, but it tends to brush the dust in instead of out.

Traces of mud may be removed from black materials by rubbing with slices of raw potato.

Stains in table linen may be easily removed by plunging the articles in pure boiling water. Soap and water would have the effect of fixing the stains.

Scalloped Macaroni and Beef.

Take the remnants of any fresh roasted meat and cut in thin slices. Lay them in a dish with a little plain boiled macaroni if you have it, and season thoroughly with pepper, salt and a little catchup. Fill a deep dish half full, add a very little finely chopped onion and a layer of sliced tomatoes, having previously covered the meat with stock or gravy. Make a thick crust of mashed potato, and bake till this is brown in a not too hot oven.

A Cleaning Hint.

When you are cleaning your sewing machine and cannot reach parts of it with a cloth, try using a bicycle pump. The suction of the pump will drive away the dust and threads. Use the pump first, then wipe the more accessible parts with a soft cloth and end with a thorough oiling.

Summer Drink.

Mix in a jub one-half ounce cream of tartar and one quart of boiling water, flavor with lemon peel or essence of lemon and sweeten to taste. This is a pleasant and refreshing drink.

Currant Ice.

To one pint of currant juice add one pound of sugar, one pint of water; when partly frozen add the whites of two eggs well beaten and freeze.

The Hagenbeck ostrich farm at Stellingen, near Hamburg, was founded three years ago, and is growing rapidly in importance as well as size. It was Mr. Hagenbeck's theory that the ostrich, although a native of tropical or hot countries, would thrive in colder localities, and as a result be stronger in health and grow a heavier coat of feathers.

NURSE TELLS OF SKIN CURES

"I have seen the Cuticura Remedies used with best results during the past twenty years. In my work as a nurse, many skin disease cases came under my observation, and in every instance, I always recommended the Cuticura Remedies as they always gave entire satisfaction. One case in particular was that of a lady friend of mine who, when a child, was afflicted with eczema which covered her face and hands entirely, breaking out at intervals with severer torture. She could not go to school as the disfigurement looked terrible. I told her to get at once a set of the Cuticura Remedies. After the use of only one set she was perfectly well.

"A grown lady friend was afflicted with salt rheum in one of her thumbs, and she was cured by the Cuticura Remedies. Still another lady had dry salt rheum in both palms of her hands every fall of the year. They used to be so painful she could scarcely wet her hands until she began to use the Cuticura Remedies which cured her. I have also seen them cure children of ringworm. The children's faces would be all circles and rings around the cheeks, and the neck, and after treatment with Cuticura Soap and Ointment, they were completely cured. My husband had rheumatism on his arm and I used the Cuticura Ointment. It made his arm as limber and nice, whereas it was quite stiff before I began to apply the Ointment.

"Last May I had an ingrowing toe nail which was very painful, as the side of the nail was edging right down in the side of my toe. I cut the nail out of the cavity it made, and of course applied the Cuticura Ointment to the part affected. It soothed it and in less than ten nights it was all healed through constant use of the Ointment. Ten days ago, I had my left hand and wrist burned with boiling lard, and Cuticura Ointment has completely cured them. I have just recommended the Cuticura Remedies to another friend, and she is recovering nicely. I will gladly furnish the names of the people referred to above if anybody doubts what I say." (Signed) Mrs. Margaret Henderson, 77 Highland Ave., Malden, Mass., Oct. 1, 1910. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 6 L, Boston.

Sufficient Evidence.

Having vouched for the honesty of the woman who wished a situation as scrub-woman the good-natured man was subjected to a severe examination by the superintendent of the building.

"There are degrees of honesty," said the superintendent. "How honest is she?"

The good-natured man reflected.

"Well," said he, "I'll tell you. She is so honest that if you throw anything that looks to be worth a copper into the waste basket you have to tag it 'Destroy this,' or she will fish it out and put it back on your desk night after night, no matter how badly you want to get rid of it. I don't know that I can say anything more."

"No more is necessary," said the superintendent, and he proceeded to hire the woman.

To Laugh at Tuberculosis.

Much ignorance prevails among the unfortunate victims of tuberculosis and families of these unfortunates, according to the Los Angeles Herald. For such as these the words spoken by Adolphus Knopf should be chiseled in imperishable granite. Or, better still, they should be published in every public print, viz: "There is no such thing as hereditary tuberculosis. The remedy is simple and all should know it. It is one of the most easily curable of all the chronic infectious diseases. You can cure consumption by the unstinted use of God's good fresh air, twenty-four hours in twenty-four, plenty of good food and plenty of good water, inside and out. You all know that cleanliness is next to godliness. Children should get all the fresh air possible. They should sleep and play in the open air. They should attend open-air schools."

Exhibition of Real Faith.

William Spill's little girl, who had been playing at making mud pies, aided by a tiny sprinkling can for a reservoir, ran to her father as he alighted from a car, bearing a package of dry-cleaned wearing apparel. Pointing to her muddy little boots Father Spill admonished his tiny daughter, impressing her with the value of a neat appearance.

William Kerstetter, of Penn township, killed fourteen rattle snakes in one week recently.

The Zettle reunion will be held in E. C. Harter's grove, in Georges Valley, Thursday, August 31st.

Misses Hannah Royer and Mary Homan, of State College, spent Sunday at the home of Clyde Dutrow, below Centre Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Person and Mr. and Mrs. Ammon Burkholder, of Philipsburg, New Jersey, are at the Strohm home for a two weeks' vacation.

Misses Mary F. and Margaret Dunlap, daughters of Commissioner John L. Dunlap, of Bellefonte, this week are guests of Miss Cora Brown, at Potters Mills.

Rev. J. M. Runkle, of Newport, accompanied by his wife and family, last week were guests of relatives at Spring Mills. This week they are visiting in Nittany Valley.

Messrs. Christ D. and William F. Keller have leased the Keller homestead to Edward Lair, of near Centre Hall. The owners of the farm and the tenant will have a mutual interest in the stock.

Mrs. C. D. Bartholomew and children, and the former's sister-in-law, Miss Helen Bartholomew, Monday afternoon went to Altoona where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. L. Bartholomew.

On Saturday evening two cans of lard were stolen from the home of Wallace Bartges, south of Aaronsburg, and the house was generally ransacked. The family was away from home during the evening, says the Journal. About a year ago all his chickens and turkeys were stolen.

The Houtz homestead at Linden Hall is offered for sale by James I. Ross, administrator. See advertisment in this issue. An opportunity is here offered to any one wishing to give fruit growing attention, as there is now growing a large variety and quantity of fruit on the premises.

Farmers in the vicinity of Lewisburg are feeling happy over the outlook for a bumper crop of apples. As the result of careful spraying and pruning, the fruit is growing as it never grew before. It is expected that it will be the largest apple crop within the memory of the present day farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lingle, tenants on the Brockerhoff farm below Old Fort,, were callers at the Reporter office Monday afternoon. They are very well contented farmers, and their home is one sought by many. On Sunday twenty persons from Colyer, Boalsburg and other points took dinner with them.

Dr. W. H. Schuyler and daughter, Miss Eloise, who have been taking a trip ending at Binghamton, New York, are scheduled to come home today (Thursday.) From the latter place Dr. Schuyler sent the Reporter an article on shade trees that is of special interest to residents in Centre Hall.

Prof. Edwin A. Cottrell has resigned his position as instructor in economics and assistant registrar in Pennsylvania State College. He will enter Harvard University for a two years' graduate course. Prof. W. S. Dye has been made assistant registrar. Dr. Brown, of the University of Illinois, will take Mr. Cottrell's place as instructor.

William E. Meehan, of Philadelphia, resigned as the state commissioner of fisheries. Governor Tener, who is at Salisbury Beach, Massachusetts, accepted the resignation at once by wire, and at the same time appointed Nathan R. Buller superintendent of the state fish hatchery at Pleasant Mount, Wayne county, to succeed Meehan. The change will become effective September 1.

Rev. and Mrs. W. A. McClellan, of West Milton, are in the valley among relatives and friends, as are also their two children—Roy and Grace. Mrs. McClellan and daughter for the greater part of the time are with the former's aged mother, Mrs. Lucinda Runkle. Rev. McClellan is at the old home at Tussey Sink, and Roy is making his chief headquarters with his uncle, John H. Runkle, below Old Fort.

The graduates of the Lock Haven State Normal School are everywhere filling important positions, not only in the public schools, but as county and city superintendents, college professors and in business affairs. A recent graduate was appointed during the last month as State Entomologist of Indiana at a handsome salary. He attributes much of his success to the careful training in science that he received at Lock Haven. Other students can do likewise. During the last two years the school has been filled to its capacity and in the future the students will be limited in order that they may all receive individual attention. Its object is to develop home life and to advance its young men and women morally and intellectually. Write for its handsome catalog.

TULIP MADNESS.

The Craze That Raged In Holland In the Last Century.

During the tulip craze in Holland in the last century in one year the sales aggregated 10,000,000 florins. Holland went tulip mad. The bulbs were quoted on the Stock Exchange. Ownership in them was divided into shares. Speculators sold them short. At one time more tulips were sold than existed. At Lille a brewer sold his trade and good will in exchange for a bulb, which was thereafter known as the Brewery tulip. In Amsterdam a father gave one by way of dower with his child. Thereafter the variety was known as the Marriage of My Daughter. At Rotterdam a hungry sailor, happening on a few, mistook them for onions and ate them. The repast became as famous as Cleopatra's pearls and probably exceeded it in cost. At The Hague a poor fellow managed to raise a black tulip. The rumor of that vegetable marvel spread. Presently he was visited by a deputation from a syndicate. For that ewe lamb of his the deputation offered 1,000 florins, which he refused. He was offered 10,000 florins. Still he refused. Cascades of gold were poured before his resisting eyes. Finally, tormented and tempted, he succumbed. There and then the deputation trampled that tulip under their feet. Afterward it appeared that the syndicate had already grown a gem precisely similar and, unable to bear the idea that a rival existed, had authorized the deputation if needful to offer ten times the amount which it paid.

PICKED AN ODD NAME.

An Author's Long Search and a Subsequent Surprise.

When Albion W. Tourgee wrote "A Fool's Errand" he named one of his leading characters Theron Pardee. An early copy of the book fell into the hands of the Rev. Luther Pardee, an Episcopal clergyman of Chicago, whose father was named Thereon Pardee. The name is such an unusual combination that in amazement the rector showed the book to his father, and they were both puzzled by the coincidence. They decided to write Judge Tourgee and ask him what had led him to use the name. He replied, in equal amazement, that he had not supposed there was such a man living as a Theron Pardee. Then he stated that he had a prolonged search for a suitable name for the character of his story—one that would express just what he imagined this character to be. In the course of the hunt an old copy of the curriculum of Union college had fallen into his hands. It was dated 1825, or something as far back, and among the names of the students was one Thereon Pardee. The judge said it had impressed him as being one of the richest, most solid and most satisfying names he ever had heard, so he decided to adopt it for his character. The curriculum was so old that he had no hesitation in using the name, and he was astonished to learn that the rightful owner of it was living. His explanation was accepted and the resulting acquaintance was pleasing all around. —New York Press.

The Arab Plowman.

To see an Arab steering a yoke of oxen, one hand pressed upon the single stem of the plow and the other holding the long, slim goad, is to see a living illustration of how Elisha looked and moved when Elijah found him plowing and cast his cloak upon him in significant symbolism of his destiny. It has often been remarked that, while imperishable relics of Roman stonework abound in northern Africa in the form of bridges, aqueducts and so forth, the impress left on the people themselves by the greatest civilizing power that ever existed is extraordinarily slight. Only in some such insignificant details as the names of the months in the Kabyle dialect is the stamp of Rome still visible, and in the system of hiring labor in the Tell there survives a custom belonging to the early days of the Roman republic.—Wide World Magazine.

Ancient Spectacle Makers.

The ancient Guild of Spectacle Makers is numerically one of the strongest London companies. Its charter dates from the year 1629 and, though the exact date of its origin is lost, there is ample evidence that the calling of spectacle maker was extensively followed at a very early date. An old book of 1563 mentions the spectacle makers among other traders, and the biography of Carlo Zeno, an illustrious Venetian, who died in 1418, mentions that even at the age of eighty-four he needed no artificial aids to his sight. So presumably spectacles were common in Italy five centuries ago.—London Telegraph.

DEATHS.

David Beck, aged seventy-three years, seven months and one day, died at his home at Chatham's Run, Tuesday of last week, after an illness of several years of Bright's disease. Fifteen years ago he moved from near Mackeyville to Chatham's Run. He leaves to survive a wife, two sons, Harry, at home, and R. C., of St. Marys; and one adopted daughter, Lizzie, at home. Three brothers, W. F., of Lock Haven; Charles and Israel, of Nittany Valley, and one sister, Mrs. Harriet Stabley, of Rosecrans, also survive. Interment was made in Zeigler's cemetery.

Mrs. Catharine Whitmer died in Bellefonte on Saturday. Interment was made Tuesday morning. The deceased was aged eighty-five years, eight month and is survived by the following brother and sisters: William Whitmer, of Buffalo Run; Mrs. Daniel Eberhart, Mrs. Susan Zimmerman, Mrs. Margaret Baney, all of Bellefonte. She had been partly paralyzed for more than a year and made her home with her niece, Mrs. Catharine Brown.

Harry, the four-year-old son of James Smith, of Woodward, died Friday, 28th ult., of asthma. Interment was made the following Tuesday in the cemetery at Woodward.

Jesse Woodring, of Worth township, died Saturday of last week, aged about seventy years. He was a brother of Commissioner Jacob Woodring.

Sprow-Bower.

On Sunday morning, August 6, at the Reformed parsonage, Boalsburg, Mr. Jacob B. Sprow and Miss Sadie C. Bower were united in marriage by Rev. S. C. Stover. Both parties reside near Centre Hall and are well known. Miss Bower was Mr. Sprow's housekeeper for four or more years, and now has made this her permanent home. The Reporter extends congratulations.

The Grange Encampment and Fair in September promises to be the best ever. There is no doubt of the number of campers being in excess of last year, because the management has already been obliged to order new tents in order to accommodate those who have been booked for quarters on the ground. The exhibitors are also sending in requisitions for space.

J. Q. A. KENNEDY
HIGH CLASS WORK DONE
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
PRICES REASONABLE
For the past ten years I have been repairing Watches, Jewelry, etc., at my home west of Centre Hall, but of late I have given the business more attention, and in the future practically all my time will be devoted to the jewelry business.
